France, W. Germany Settle All Differences

To Split Big Steel Mill 50-50

BONN, Germany (Sunday) (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay announced early Saturday a settlement of all outstanding questions between West Germany and France.

The announcement was made at a joint news conference after long consultation between them.

The two ministers conferred until nearly midnight Saturday to clear up remaining issues, particularly the controversial Saar question before West Germany achieves sovereignty next week.

The joint communique said agreement had been reached on the future ownership of the huge Roehling Steel Mill in the Saar. No details were given, but a senior German official said the mill would be split 50-50 between private German and French interests.

This was the key point on which the ministers' conference had threatened to bog down late Saturday.

French Premier Edgar Faure had promised his National Assembly he would not deposit the documents ratifying the Paris pacts for German rearmament until the future of the plant was settled. The agreement thus cleared the way for the final act of ratification of the Paris treaties next Thursday.

Adenauer said West Germany would become sovereign on that day.

Mitchell Calls For More Training Of Skilled Workers

HARRIMAN, N.Y. (P) — Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell said Saturday the United States must train more skilled workers if it is to maintain its margin of superiority over Russian industry.

He said this country is wasting potential skilled manpower through lack of proper schooling in "our undeveloped areas" and through bias against employment of Negroes, women and persons over 45.

Mitchell, a guest of the National Manpower Council of Columbia University at Arden House, said in an address:

"The discrimination against Negro workers, the reluctance to employ women in some industrial plants, and other forms of discrimination is equivalent to letting Babe Ruth sit on the bench because you don't like the cut of his uniform."

Calling for more training in occupational skills, Mitchell said: "We need a good occupational guidance program, beginning in elementary school and continuing through high school, to direct capable young people into the types of training that will realize their highest potential."

CHILD'S RECOVERY FROM ENCEPHALITIS CREDITED TO PRAYERS

CHICAGO (P) — The sleeping sickness which kept 6-year-old Gayle Russell in a coma for weeks apparently has been dispelled. Her recovery had been asked in the prayers of Protestant, Jewish and Catholic congregations in four suburbs.

The tiny brunette with the large, brown eyes walked out of Lutheran Deaconess Hospital Friday as hundreds of her neighbors, relatives and friends in Niles, Glenview, Morton Grove and Skokie had prayed that she would. Her remarkable recovery from sleeping sickness came after pastors of a dozen congregations had asked their people to pray for Gayle.

Gayle lapsed into a coma March 15, two weeks after complications that followed an appendectomy. She began coming out of the coma last week. Her father, Paul, 29, a civil engineer, said he believed "the prayers helped."

Gayle was alert and happy when she left the hospital after being in a coma 37 days. Her small body, twisted by muscle spasms, once was so weak she could not swallow without help from her mother, Harbort.

CONTINUE INOCULATIONS — Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, U. S. Surgeon-General goes over data on the Salk polio field trials with his son, Leonard "Bobo" at their home in Washington. Eight-year-old Leonard will receive his first Salk shot next Monday despite the withholding from the public of vaccine made by the Cutter Laboratories pending investigation. Dr. Scheele has expressed "complete faith" in the Salk vaccine.

Confidence In Safety Of Salk Polio Vaccine Shown In AP Survey

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strong feeling of confidence by the nation's state health officers in the safety of the Salk polio vaccine was evident Saturday from a country-wide survey made by the Associated Press.

This faith in the effectiveness of the new medical weapon was widely expressed despite the current investigation of the product of one of six laboratories producing the vaccine.

A spokesman for the U. S. Public Health Service said there are also indications that "the American people as a whole have responded with great calmness and no evidence of hysteria" to the precautionary withdrawal of the vaccine of the Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., pending further investigations of its safety.

Experts Urge Continuing Shots Of Salk Vaccine

WASHINGTON (P) — A group of experts, ending a two-day conference, Saturday night approved the government's withdrawal of the Cutter vaccine for study, but urged that antipolio inoculations be continued with vaccine from other makers.

The group included Dr. Jonas E. Salk and other polio and immunology experts called in to advise the Public Health Service.

They recommended that a careful day-to-day laboratory study be made of all persons who come down with polio after receiving vaccine. The aim of this is to assist in determining whether the Cutter vaccine is faulty.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele, chief of the U. S. Public Health Service, reporting the group's findings, repeated his statement that there was no need for alarm.

He said approximately four million children have been vaccinated with only 29 of them showing up with polio after being vaccinated.

This figure was based on latest reports to the Public Health Service here. News dispatches indicated some other cases have cropped up which have not yet been reported in Washington.

"It is important to remember," Dr. Scheele said, "that the field trials of the vaccine indicated that it was from 60 to 90 per cent effective. It must be anticipated that additional cases will inevitably occur among some of those for whom the vaccine is not effective."

TWO DIE IN STOVE EXPLOSION

SAPPHO, Wash. (P) — Mrs. Lewis V. Stepp, 24, attempted to revive a heater fire Friday by pouring kerosene into the stove from a two gallon can.

Two of her small sons were fatally burned in the explosion and fire which resulted and Mrs. Stepp and a little daughter are fighting for their lives in Seattle hospitals. Killed outright in the belching flame was little Patrick Stepp, 4. His brother, Roger, 6, died just as he was being transferred from a coast guard plane to an ambulance at the Sand Point Naval Air Station in Seattle.

Patrick's twin sister, Patsy, horribly burned but pluckily conscious, is being treated at Children's Orthopedic hospital. Mrs. Stepp, in similar condition is at Harborview.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (Sunday) (P) — Gen Nguyen Van Vy took over control of South Viet Nam Sunday in a bloodless coup and declared himself still loyal to ex-Emperor Bao Dai.

Three Fugitives Elude Police In New York Wilds

NORTH LAWRENCE, N.Y. (P) — Three will-of-the-wisp jail-breakers stalked almost like jungle animals, continued Saturday to elude one of the heaviest concentrations of law-enforcement agents ever engaged in a manhunt in New York State.

More than 200 state troopers, sheriff's deputies and civilian volunteers, armed to the teeth, grimly searched a wide but rough-going section of the north New York badlands for the fugitives.

But the three either had escaped from the section or holed up in a not readily detectable spot within it.

They were Frank Talarico, 44, of Utica; Ralph LaShomb, 29, of Potsdam, and Patrick Brooks, 26, of Gabriels.

With Leon Caskinette, 24, of Raymondville, they escaped Wednesday from the St. Lawrence County jail at Canton, in a sheriff's department automobile, after slugging a jailer. The four had been held on burglary and - or assault charges. They took along two revolvers and ammunition.

Late Friday, state police came upon the four in an abandoned house near North Lawrence, a remote section of St. Lawrence County, about 20 miles south of the Canadian border.

In an exchange of gunfire between the police and fugitives, Trooper Austin McDonagh, 34, of Malone, was wounded and Caskinette was captured. His three companions fled into the nearby woods.

Ten Years Since Russia Entered German Capital

BERLIN (P) — Ten years ago today, victorious Russian soldiers planted the Soviet flag atop the shattered Reichstag building in Berlin.

Neues Deutschland, newspaper of the ruling Communist party in East Germany, observed the anniversary by charging the Western allies had provided only 4 per cent of the supplies used by Russia in her drive on Germany.

Quoting what it called official U. S. figures, Neues Deutschland also asserted that the Soviet Union had lost 7 1/2 million lives in the war against Germany, as compared to 295,904 for the U. S., and 305,770 for Britain.

The newspaper said this proved that it was the Soviet army which led the way in smashing Nazi Germany.

FAIRFIELD HIGH WINS

MACOMB, Ill. (P) — Fairfield High School won the sweepstakes award Saturday in the finals of the Class B State Music Contest at Western Illinois State College.

Fairfield scored 84 points. Dundee was second with 77, followed by Eureka, 76, Gibson City, 65, and Morris, 61.

The sweepstakes award was based on points scored in individual and group contests. Between 4,000 and 5,000 students representing 121 Illinois high schools competed in the two-day contest which ended Saturday.

Cold War Becomes One Of Maneuver With Peace Itself As Chief Weapon

WASHINGTON (P) — The cold war has come out of the trenches. It has become a war of maneuver, with peace itself being wielded as a weapon.

Within the month the world may see the first pledge to roll back Soviet troops from the heart of Europe since they took up their forward positions there 10 years ago. Secretary of State Dulles is due to leave for Europe next Friday on a mission that may result in the completion of an Austrian peace treaty in the immediate future.

There is peace talk by Red China in the Far East, and there are contacts with leaders of free world nations. President Eisenhower has exchanged letters with his World War II friend, Marshal Georgi Zhukov, Soviet defense minister.

Most of these events have burst upon a bewildered world in the last three weeks. They have caused much speculation as to their meaning and their future significance.

Some people wonder whether basic Communist policies are changing, and if so why. Some doubt any such change but think the world nevertheless is becoming

South Viet Nam Ousts Chief Of State, Bao Dai

WAR RAGES IN SAIGON — Smoke billows in the background as an armored car and troops move up the Boulevard Gallieni, one of the show streets of Saigon, capital of South Viet Nam, in advance against rebel group during all-out action that drove the Binh Xuyen into smoking suburb of Cholon.

Believe Chiang Would Go Along On Peace Pact

WASHINGTON (P) — The United States has received indications that Nationalist China will denounce but abide by any cease-fire agreement which this country may be able to negotiate with Red China for the Formosa Strait.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are looking forward to further word on the Nationalist attitude toward ending the fighting, when two of their top aides report Monday on a flying mission to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's capital, Taipei.

Other officials in Washington said that as a result of various contacts with the Nationalists on the cease-fire problem, they were satisfied that Chiang Kai-shek would go along, regardless of how much he dislikes it.

Chiang has repeatedly made clear in public statements his government opposition to a cease-fire. His policy is to keep the war going and fight his way back to the mainland with American help.

However, the basic issue of whether he would abide by a truce agreement — regardless of how much he opposes it — was settled in December so far as the Eisenhower administration is concerned.

At that time Chiang's foreign minister, George Yeh, signed an agreement with Dulles, as the price of a defense treaty with the U. S., that he would not attack Red China without American agreement.

The position of the President and Dulles, as Eisenhower indicated at a news conference Tuesday, is therefore that the cease-fire with Nationalist China has already been negotiated by the United States. The Nationalists cannot attack without American agreement. If the Communists negotiate a truce with the United States then both parties to the fighting will be committed to stop it.

The octopus can walk or propel himself by using jets of water.

Twelve Senators Back Ike In 'Waging Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twelve Senate members of the Eisenhower wing of the Republican party said Saturday they support President Eisenhower's "efforts for negotiation of a cease-fire with Communist China."

But two of them — Sens. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey and Saltonstall of Massachusetts — added in a supplemental statement that, "It is most advisable, if possible, that such negotiations be carried on in collaboration with representatives of our ally, Nationalist China."

The 12 took a position varying from that of Sen. Knowland of California.

He is basically opposed to any conference from which Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists are absent but said "there may be some formula, although I am not yet advised of it, by which we could negotiate directly with the Chinese Communists without affecting the interests of the Nationalists."

Knowland said, however, he had no present intention of resigning as Senate GOP leader.

The 12 who signed a statement declaring they are back of Eisenhower in "waging peace" were Sens. A. J. Aiken of South Carolina, Bennett of Maryland, Bush of Connecticut, Carlson of Kansas, Cates and Smith of New Jersey, Cotton of New Hampshire, Duff of Pennsylvania, Tves of New York, Kuchel of California, Payne of Maine and Saltonstall.

Smith has been a strong supporter of Chiang Kai-shek's China regime. Saltonstall is Knowland's assistant leader.

They said they joined in the general statement by the other 10 with reservation that 1. Chiang be represented, if possible, at any cease-fire talks and 2. "that such negotiations insure that the armed forces of Nationalist China be maintained mobile and available in the event of Communist aggression, or threat of aggression, anywhere in Asia, including Korea and Indochina."

Knowland said he is opposed to any conference at which the Nationalists are not represented. Earlier in the week, he criticized indirectly Eisenhower's statement that it would be "perfectly legitimate" to negotiate directly with

U.S. Backed Diem Stays In Charge

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (Sunday) (AP) — A revolutionary Congress committee mapped out an anti-racketeer, anti-colonial program for South Viet Nam Sunday after deposing the playboy chief of state, ex-Emperor Bao Dai.

The committee, denouncing the absent Bao Dai as a disolute French puppet, entrusted the regime to American-backed Premier Ngo Dinh Diem. Its three-fold program calls for:

1—Suppression of the rebellion of the racketeer army of Binh Xuyen.

2—Creation of a newly elected assembly.

3—Quick riddance of the remnants of French colonialism.

The strongly anti-communist Diem, who had defied Bao Dai in the midst of a two-day Binh Xuyen rebellion, thus emerged stronger than ever.

The rebellion seemed to have cost Bao Dai his role of chief of state.

But the French still recognized Bao Dai, who lives on the French Riviera, as chief of state.

The possibility of trouble here between the Vietnamese and French loomed when the French erected barricades around their Europeanized zone in Saigon to prevent Vietnamese from entering.

The civil war, in which 500 soldiers and civilians have been killed and 1,500 wounded, was temporarily at a standstill. Binh Xuyen, driven from all points in Saigon except in the French-garrisoned zone, licked its wounds in the Chinese suburb of Cho Lon. Diem claimed his national army had won a stunning victory.

The revolutionary Congress, meeting in City Hall Saturday, ripped Bao Dai's picture from the wall and trampled on it.

The committee from Congress then persuaded Gen Nguyen Van Vy in a dramatic chance encounter at Diem's Independence Palace to denounce the deposed chief of state. Vy refused Bao Dai's commission to take over command of the national army.

Bao Dai touched off the explosion leading to his being fired by the Congress by summoning Diem to an urgent conference in southern France a few hours after the shooting war with the Bin Xuyen broke out.

Diem's backers considered this amounted to dismissing the premier. By cablegram Bao Dai also sought to revoke the military powers he had given Diem months ago and confer them on Vy.

The U. S. State Department still refused to say whether it recognized Bao Dai as chief of state. But Diem as the best available man to form a strong South Viet Nam government.

The government is faced with the task of uniting the southern segment of the nation for elections next year. The Geneva Conference last year, which divided Viet Nam between a communist-ruled North and the non-communist South, agreed elections would be held in 1956 to settle the status of this entire Indochina country.

"We feel and hope that patient and persistent endeavor may produce results or at least show the way toward them."

Nehru said India had known "for some time" that Chou wanted direct talks.

Menon, who has headed the Indian delegation to the U. N. General Assembly, is widely credited with mediation efforts that broke down Soviet resistance to the Korean prisoner exchange scheme in 1952 and 1953.

ADM. JOHN H. TOWERS DIES

NEW YORK (P) — Adm. John H. Towers (ret.) 70, the Navy's senior flier, died of cancer today in St. Albans naval hospital.

Towers commanded an expedition that made the first airplane flight across the Atlantic Ocean, in 1919, although his own plane was forced down.

The NC-4, one of the three planes that took off from Newfoundland, flew successfully to the Azores and thence to Portugal.

Towers first applied for air duty in 1910 when he was an ensign. Two years later he set an American endurance record by staying aloft in a Curtiss seaplane for 6 1/2 hours.

He was appointed commander in chief of the Pacific fleet in 1945 in a Navy reorganization that gave recognition to the increasing importance of air power.

Carrollton High Makes Drive For Football Capes

CARROLLTON — The football staff of the Carrollton Community Unit high school is launching a drive to purchase sideline capes for the football team before the 1955-1956 football season.

The purpose of the capes is fourfold—for keeping warm on cold nights, keeping dry on wet nights, preventing the sudden cooling off of the players when they come out of a ball game and aiding the players to warm so that he will be physically ready to enter the game without danger of injury.

The funds available for new equipment have been exhausted on other important items so that the football staff has taken it upon themselves to solicit donations and gifts to purchase 22 of these football sideline capes at $9.50 a cape. Nine dollars and fifty cents is not too great an investment in preventing colds, other sickness and possible injury to a player who enters the game when he is cold.

The Jaycees are planning a spring dance from which a portion of the profits will go to the football cape project. The Lions club has also pledged its support as have many individuals throughout the area from which the local school draws its students and its football fans.

When the motorist was brought to the local jail, he requested that somebody telephone to his wife and have her cover up the tomato and pepper plants he had set out. The thermometer at the time was registering 74 degrees.

When told he could telephone to his wife, the motorist did so and informed the party answering to be sure and cover up the plants that it was getting cold very rapidly and that there was at least three inches of snow in Jersey county then.

ALPHA IOTA SORORITY MEMBERS FROM 3 STATES MEET IN CITY

The Jacksonville Alumnae and Alpha Pi Chapters of Alpha Iota, International Honorary Business Sorority, continued as hostesses to the Tri-States Regional two-day spring convocation on Sunday, April 24, at the Dunlap Hotel.

A highlight of the morning's business session was the selection of Miss Catherine McLaren of Eta Upsilon, Indianapolis, as Tri-States Regional Association Queen delegate to the International Convention which is to be held in Philadelphia in June. She will be eligible for election as the 1955 Alpha Iota Queen.

In contrast, yet complementary, to the brilliant array of colors used throughout the "April Showers" theme of Saturday evening's festivities, the delicate pastel shades of Sunday's "Rainbow" theme created an atmosphere which was conducive to a more serious thoughtfulness. Appropriate piano music played by Becky Crouse during the luncheon added to the color of the meeting.

On all luncheon tables a consistency of rainbow pastels was maintained throughout the decorations. The speakers' table was graceful with its centerpiece of varicolored daisies and its greenery as well as with the two fan-like arrangements of six tall colonial flower taper candles of different delicate tints which were secured by a low holder surrounded at the base by companion shades of ribbon loops. Each of the other five tables carried identical candle arrangements. Menu and program covers followed the same color variation, even to the attached place-card dolly with its background of delicately colored lace ribbon, as did the nut cups with their small assorted gumpdrops. Individual favors were wrapped with tissue and ribbon of the same assorted color scheme.

Each part of the ham menu had been given a descriptive name in-dictative of the elements of the weather.

Preceding the luncheon, Mayna Preston gave the invocation. Immediately following it, Vera Seaton, toastmistress, extended greetings to the group. She presented Mrs. Missetta Protzman of Chicago, regional councilor, and the State officers: Betty Bear, vice president; Eleanor Shinkus, secretary; and Catherine Alberti, chaplain.

As a compliment to the theme, Rita Jean Nall in her usual impressive manner gave two vocal selections, "Look for the Silver Lining" and "Over the Rainbow." She was accompanied by Mayna Preston at the piano.

Mrs. Protzman conducted a beautiful memorial service for a deceased member of a sister chapter and Mrs. Alberti concluded it with a prayer.

Travel Program

Mrs. Alvahlee S. McCarthy was introduced by the toastmistress as guest speaker whose subject was "People of the Holy Land." With vivid description and pleasing expression, Mrs. McCarthy gave a detailed account of her last summer's trip to the Holy Land, adding her impressions gained of people and places visited. As a parallel to her talk, she showed many outstanding slides which emphasized points of interest.

Public Library News Notes

Mental health concerns every person and enters into all relationships between individuals and into every phase of human conduct. In cooperation with community efforts to stress the importance of National Mental Health Week, May 1-7, the Jacksonville Public Library has arranged an exhibit of books about the understanding of mental problems.

Among those selected are "The Health of the Mind," by Rees, which gives information on psychological make-up and the resulting behavior problems. New understanding of the strength and limitations of the mind is discussed by Gilbert Highet, in "Man's Unconquerable Mind." For those who have fallen prey to alcoholism and other injurious emotional and behavior patterns which are blocks to successful living, Edward McGoldrick has positive help in "Management of the Mind." A story of the care of the mentally ill past, present, and future, both in and out of hospitals, is told in "When Minds Go Wrong," by Grimes.

A sincere and inspiring account of how Paul Hackett recovered from a severe mental condition after a year of confinement in a Veterans hospital is related by him in "The Cardboard Giants," the title of which signifies the mentally ill. Marie Hackett, in the "Cliff's Edge," describes her struggles to keep her three children fed and clothed while devoting all possible time to visiting and writing her husband during his hospital term to keep alive his hope, faith, and courage. These two books reveal how one family had the strength, the love, and the belief to survive an unexpected tragedy.

Measures for a balanced life, as well as many case histories of well-mindedness, are presented by Marie Ray, in "How Never To Be Tired," to promote her belief that fatigue is a matter of mind.

"How To Live 365 Days a Year," by Dr. Schneider, explains the reasons for emotional illness and gives a 12 point program to enable persons to live happily and productively.

"A man, guided by a sound philosophy, can control his life, determine the goal he wants for himself, and achieve that goal." This pattern for living is developed by Preston Bradley, pastor of the largest non-sectarian church in the U. S., in his recent book, "Happiness Through Creative Living."

White Hall First Baptist Church Has Annual Meet

WHITE HALL—The annual business meeting of the First Baptist church was conducted Wednesday night, April 27, in charge of the moderator, Wade Alexander.

The financial report of the church was given by the Treasurer, Carl Davidson, who reported receipts of $9,197.00 received on current expenses, 21% over receipts of the previous year and receipts of $4,530.00 for Missions, a gain of 61% over last year.

A new budget of $10,556.00 was adopted for the ensuing year. This budget includes $2500.00 for a new heating plant, and a goal of $4,153.00 for Missions including $1,608.00 for building of new churches in America.

The Rev. Ben A. Bohn, pastor, gave his report showing 54 new members received into the church during the year, 27 of that number by baptism. Mr. Bohn also conducted five membership training classes for new members, assisted in one Revival and one Home Visitation Evangelism Crusade and conducted Daily Vacation Bible School.

The nominating committee composed of Mable Green, Henry Pruitt and Orvis Dawdy submitted a slate of church and Sunday school officers which were elected.

Elizabeth Drake served as general chairman of the entire convocation. The committee responsible for Sunday's luncheon and program consisted of Vera H. Seaton, chairman, Donna Burris, Elizabeth Hardy, Virginia Darwent, and Mayna Preston from the Alumnae Chapter of which Martha Lorton is president; also on the committee were Abbie Lakin and Etta Smith, members of the Alpha Pi active Chapter of which Pat Wells is president. Although not originally named to the committee Helen Brown, Paula Hudson, Mary Jane Morris, and DeLores Holloway helped with Sunday's activities.

MINES STILL LOOSE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Coast Guard issued a warning here that live mines—leftovers from World War II—still are floating in the Atlantic Ocean. The warning was occasioned when a mine washed up on the beach, giving the bathers a bad scare.

This mine turned out to be harmless. It was a nonexplosive type used in Navy training. But the Coast Guard warned that the next one might be the real thing, for there are mines drifting in the Atlantic "which could explode and kill anyone handling them in an improper manner."

It is estimated that 137,000 lightning bugs, all lighting at the same time, would equal one 60-watt electric bulb.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weighed good news against bad news this week and maintained its balance near record high levels.

The market had to cope with a whole series of major developments. It gave a good account of itself by neither falling in panic nor running up in unbridled enthusiasm.

Among other events the market had to absorb was a government blow aimed at stock speculation, a succession of exceptionally high earnings reports by big corporations, some profits reports acutely disappointing, and the possibility of a new peace in the Formosa area.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended the week unchanged at $164.80. It was up three days in five. At the finish, the average stood only $2.00 away from the highest point in its history established last Tuesday.

The five most active issues of the week on the American Stock Exchange were Ford Motor Ltd. up 1 1/2 at 13 1/2; Canada Southern Petroleum up 9-16 at 3 1-16; Brantley Tractor up 1 1/4 at 7 1/2; Security Safety Control off 1/2 at 2 1/2; and Webb & Knapp up 1/4 at 2 1/2.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were National Theatre up 1 1/2 at 11 1/2; Libby, McNeill & Libby off 3/4 at 22; Pan American World Airways off 1/4 at 18 1/2; Boeing off 1/4 at 66 1/2; and Loews up 1 1/2 at 20 1/2.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—Hog prices moved higher this week, barrows and gilts ending with advances of 25 to 50 cents and sows up 25 cents.

The advance was attributed to higher wholesale pork prices at Chicago and in the East, second smallest weekly receipts in six months and an aggressive shipping demand. Average weight of butcher hogs sold sank to 240 pounds, lightest for any week this year.

Receipts in the cattle section were the largest for any week since last September. Fed steers accounted for most of the increased volume. Choice and prime steers broke $1.00 to $2.50 but losses were less marked on other grades.

While heifers were easy in sympathy with the steer price break, cows, bulls and vealers all worked higher. The week's top for steers was $30.50 for two loads of prime offerings from Nebraska.

Lambs ended weak to 50 cents lower, kinds weighing more than 110 pounds showing the widest loss. Sheep lost 25 to 50 cents. Receipts were the largest since mid-January. However, shipments of lambs to other points for slaughter were the largest for any week in more than two years.

CHICAGO (AP)—USDA—Salable hogs 200, barrows and gilts 25-50 higher; most advance on weights 240-290 lb; sows around 25 higher; at the close choice 190-230 lb barrows and gilts brought 17.00-17.50; 240-270 lb 16.50-17.00; 270-300 lb 16.50-16.50; cows under 450 lb closed at 13.50-15.00 with bulk 450-600 lb at 12.50-13.75.

Salable cattle 100; choice and prime steers 1.00-2.50 lower with most off on high choice and prime grades; steers grading good and below 50 to 1.00 lower; heifers weak to mostly 50 lower; cows steady to 25 higher; instances up 50 on canners and cutters; bulls strong to 25 higher; vealers steady to 1.00 higher; feeding steers and yearlings over 700 lbs 50 to 1.00 lower in sympathy with the decline on beef steers but under 700 lb stock steers steady; choice and prime steers bulked early at 23.75-29.00 and late at 22.25-26.00; bulk good and choice heifers 19.00-23.50; commercial grades down to 16.00; utility and commercial cows late 12.00-15.00; few high commercial and good cows 15.50-17.00; canners and cutters closed at 9.75-12.50; utility and commercial bulls 14.75-16.50; vealers 27.00; bulk good and choice 20.00-26.00.

ALL GRAINS END LOWER THIS WEEK

CHICAGO (AP)—All grains were back on the downward trail this week on the Board of Trade. The little rally of the previous week didn't carry through.

Trading was dull throughout much of the period. Apparent easing of tension over Formosa, mild hedging pressure and additional liquidation were behind the downturn. All contracts remained above their seasonal lows, however.

Wheat finished the week to 2 1/2 lower, corn 1 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, oats 1 1/4-1 1/2 lower, rye 1 1/2-2 1/4 lower, soybeans 2 1/4-1/4 lower and hard 10 to 45 cents a hundred pounds lower.

State Legislature

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Stratton's controversial bill for a penny sales tax increase will get its first airing when the 1955 Illinois General Assembly swings into its final two months.

The proposal is set for a hearing by the Senate Revenue Committee Wednesday afternoon. It calls for a boost in the state sales levy to three per cent for one year starting July 1, and is calculated to add 100 million dollars to the state's biennial receipts.

The revenue group also will take testimony on the administration bill for applying the sales tax to out-of-state purchases by Illinoisans. A similar bill in the House for a so-called "use" tax sailed over its committee hurdle without any difficulty.

French Leave Next Step In Viet Nam War Up To U.S.

PARIS (AP)—The French government Saturday left it to the Americans to propose the next move in the civil strife in Indo-China.

Diplomatic circles made it clear to reporters that the French want to harmonize their action with the Americans but feel that the next move is up to Washington.

There was a general feeling in French quarters that some use could yet be made of Chief of State Bao Dai—who lives on the French Riviera—despite the action of the Revolutionary Council in Saigon today deposing him.

The French have made it apparent to the Americans over a period of months that they oppose Premier Ngo Dinh Diem because they felt he could not command national support. But they value agreement with the Americans too much to incite further difficulties.

The French supported earlier the proposal of Bao Dai to hold a meeting of Vietnamese leaders on the Riviera—aimed at forming a new Saigon government.

There were reports that the Americans had not endorsed the idea but instead had advised a waiting procedure in the hope that Premier Diem would find a solution. Finally Bao Dai took action himself, sources here indicated, and ordered Diem to France. Diem refused and the action of the Revolutionary Council followed, removing Bao Dai as chief of state.

The French are not inclined to take that as final. It put Diem in the class of a rebel against Bao Dai, recognized by the French. The American ambassador in Indo-China is accredited to Bao Dai, but a State Department spokesman last night declined to say the United States continues to recognize Bao Dai as chief of state.

French troops have been directed to protect European and other foreigners in Saigon but to take no part in the civil war. Premier Edgar Faure indicated in a press conference Friday that he wanted to get the French expeditionary force of 100,000 men out of Indo-China. It is largely supported by American money.

Would the United States be prepared to send troops to replace the French? No one here thought it likely.

Miss Pieper and Wittum, by their elections, reached the first steps in the four-year progression to the associate grand guardianships of the state organization.

A third measure down for consideration by the revenue committee would impose a gross receipts tax on many occupations not covered by the sales levy. This one is sponsored by Sen. James O. Monroe (D-Collinsville).

Aside from a heavy docket of committee hearings, the Assembly is expected to turn its attention once more to the tough problem of legislative reapportionment, and to whether an investigation of the Illinois Toll Highways Commission should be ordered.

If Gov. Stratton's prediction proves correct, the long delayed bill on setting up 58 new Senate and 59 new House districts will be introduced and started through the legislative gauntlet.

The governor's forecast is that friction over remap which held up Senate business for two days April 27 and 28 will be dissolved when the lawmakers gather again on Tuesday.

The toll road inquiry issue was shoved to the fore again last Thursday when Chairman Evan Howell of the turnpike agency was assailed in the House for alleged political threats to legislators.

Among the more than 250 bills scheduled for hearings by various Senate and House committees Tuesday and Wednesday are those which would:

Revamp the Toll Roads Commission setup, provide for legislative determination of toll road sites, appropriate 282 million dollars to the Illinois Public Aid Commission and 96 million to the University of Illinois.

Limit downstate firemen to a 56-hour week, establish a seven hour day for state employees, change the state flower and state slogan, give legislators a $2,500 a year pay boost, take the sales tax off food and require admission of the public to meetings of governmental agencies.

Map shows the drought-stricken Dust Bowl of the western plains. The monthly report of the Soil Conservation Service in April said more than 10 million acres have been damaged by wind erosion since last November. In addition, another 20 million acres are in condition to blow if high winds and drought persist.

A lone bit of life amid an arid desert is Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson as he trudges almost ankle-deep in dust across what were once lush green acres on a Colorado farm. Benson toured the wind-raked area by bus on his way to the International Conference on Arid Lands at Albuquerque, N.M.

Great Plains Residents Hold To Faith In Future Of Region

WASHINGTON (AP)—The central and southern Great Plains may be in the grip of another severe drought, but the spirit of the people remains good. They maintain an abiding faith in the future of their region.

These facts stood out above all others in information gathered by those who accompanied Secretary of Agriculture Benson in a motor tour through dust storms of the area this week. He was seeking ideas on how the government might help deal with problems brought on by the weather.

In many parts of the plains, this is the sixth consecutive year of moistureless weather and crop failure, when most farmers and ranchers have gone in the red.

For many, it has meant disappearance of savings and reserves. For many others it has brought heavy debts. Many have been forced to reduce great livestock herds for want of feed. For most, it has meant belt-tightening on spending.

Yet there is no evidence that farmers and ranchers are ready to give up the ghost. How different is this attitude from one which hung heavy over the plains during the height of a similar drought in the Thirties! Only those who lived there before can appreciate the contrast.

In the previous drought, a spirit of hopelessness and despair finally took over—not only among those who worked the land, but among the townspeople as well. There was a great exodus—an exodus that changed once good farmers into destitute "Okies" of California and other West Coast states.

One can only speculate as to why the spirit of the people is different now.

Perhaps most important is the likelihood that the people have come to recognize the character of the central and southern plains, weatherwise. Recurring drought is a normal feature of the area, comprising about 200,000 square miles in eastern Colorado, western Kansas, eastern New Mexico, Western Oklahoma and western Texas.

Expanded droughts have been coming to this region ever since it was settled. Experts say that they have been a common feature of the region for centuries.

Farmers now look ahead with a firm faith that rains will come again. And when the moisture does return, they know that what now looks like a desert can quickly produce lush growth. The one thing that most of this region holds is a superabundance of deep, rich soil that is the envy of farmers of many areas fortunate enough to get more rainfall.

The Great Plains people do not have to look back too far to remember the productivity of their land. Agriculture in the region enjoyed a great boom during the Forties—a period when the war created a demand for all that they could produce at good prices.

A major problem is the high wind picking up and carrying away loose soil, creating blinding and stifling dust storms.

With help from the government in the form of demonstrations, farmers and ranchers are learning how to tie down the soil by land-use, cultivation and grass-rotation measures. Much of the soil blowing originates on land of farmers who have failed to adopt such measures.

MOV League Opens Season Today

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—The Mississippi-Ohio Valley League will open its baseball season Sunday with two new Illinois teams replacing two from Indiana.

The opening day schedule will include: Lafayette (Ind.) at Kokomo (Ind.) (afternoon); Kokomo at Lafayette (night); Mattoon (Ill.) at Decatur (afternoon); Decatur at Mattoon (night); Clinton (Iowa) at Dubuque (Iowa); Paris (Ill.) at Hannibal (Mo.).

The two Indiana teams replace Danville, Ill. 1954 Shalgreen's playoff champion, and Mount Vernon. This leaves Mattoon as the only charter member of the Class D league.

All clubs are major league sponsored except Kokomo and Hannibal. The St. Louis Cardinals are back in Decatur sponsorship after having operated the former Decatur Three-I League club for several years.

George Trautman, president of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues, and Clarence Hoffman of Belleville, Ill., president of the MOV League, will attend the Kokomo and Lafayette games.

GRUNTING PAYS
SOPCHOPPY, Fla. (AP)—Grunting earthworms is a profitable business in many sections of Florida.

Over 100 men, women and children are engaged in grunting, or rubbing up, earth worms in Kalkula county alone; packing them in containers with the proper sand, muck and moss and shipping them to various parts of the South.

To get the worms out of the earth workers drive in short wooden stakes and then use an axe, spring leaf iron or any other suitable iron for rubbing the top of the stake. The vibration makes the worm-prized as fishing bait—come to the surface.

You can make more worms come out by using batteries connected to steel rods but more worms are killed that way.

One dealer last year shipped over $12,000 worth to Florida customers alone. Recently one man and his wife grunted up 84 quarts—about 300 worms to the quart—in 2 days.

to hold up mass vaccinations until all vaccine, including that of 92 other manufacturers, has been "ruled safe" by the U. S. Public Health Service. Actually, PHS has said the investigation of the Cutter product should not interfere with programs using other vaccines and has urged that the nationwide inoculations be continued as planned.

California suspended its school vaccination program right after the Cutter vaccine was recalled last Wednesday. Friday night all vaccinations in that state were halted for at least a week.

Wisconsin, expecting to get its first vaccine within a week, plans to make tests of its own before using it. Oregon had not made up its mind as of Friday.

In the other states where polio has occurred among vaccinated children the immunization programs are either continuing or planned. In one county in Georgia, however, where a vaccinated child came down with polio, the "shots" have been temporarily suspended.

Idaho had suspended all shots because it had been using the Cutter vaccine in its school program, but it has requested another vaccine for the "second round."

So have Arizona and Nevada which also had used Cutter vaccine initially in their school programs. New Mexico, another Cutter user originally, hasn't decided yet what to do further.

3. Direct statements of confidence were made by some health officers, ranging from that of Maine's Dr. Dean H. Fisher who said "I see no sense in flying off the handle now," to the Illinois state health officer who declared: "I can think of 14 reasons why people should go ahead with the vaccination program—I have 14 grandchildren!"

There also was a reiteration of confidence from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the program originally made possible by March of Dimes funds.

Said Dr. Hart Van Riper, medical director of the foundation: "Nothing has occurred in the last few days to shake my faith in either the safety or effectiveness of the Salk vaccine."

Another foundation spokesman said foundation scientists feel the protection afforded by the first shot probably doesn't become even "measurable" until after about 10 days.

The investigation of the Cutter vaccine is designed to explore such other possibilities as (1) whether the vaccine "accidentally" contained some living virus, or (2) whether the vaccine, even though it might well have been safe in itself, was administered to children who happened to have living virus in their bodies in a dormant state, which became active after the injection.

Surgeon Gen. Leonard Scheele of the PHS has made it clear that the ordering of the investigation "does not necessarily mean that the product of the (Cutter) laboratory is at fault."

the Chinese Communists for a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait, even if the Nationalists did not participate.

Knowland said there is nothing to show Red China's word "is worth the paper it is written on."

This led to reports that he might resign his leadership post. Once before he had said he would quit as leader if Red China ever got into the United Nations.

Describing current reports about the possibility he might quit as "purely speculative," Knowland said:

"I have no present intention of resigning as Republican leader of the Senate. If the time ever came when I felt the situation was serious enough, I would make my views known at the time."

Hot Water Bottle, 2 Warmup Jackets Aid Bobby Shantz

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A hot water bottle and two warmup jackets are the secret weapons little Bobby Shantz used in his sensational comeback performance against the New York Yankees.

Question mark pitcher of the Kansas City Athletics, Shantz shut out the Yankees 6-0 Friday night with a thrilling three-hit performance that toppled Casey Stengel's club out of first place in the American League.

It was Shantz' first shutout since September, 1952, and his first nine-inning stint since July 26, 1953. Last season a plugging sore arm kept Bobby from doing anything impressive and a re-injury last March seemed likely to consign him to the scrap heap.

The A's trainer, Jim Ewell, explained that Bobby's trouble was seated in the deltoid muscle in his left shoulder.

The trainer said:

"Whenever he would pitch, Bobby would complain of stiffening up between innings. He'd go out for the second inning and he wouldn't have anything."

"What we did was to put a hot water bottle on that shoulder between every inning."

And whenever Bobby got on base he did three times Friday night—he was hustled into two warmup jackets. Most pitchers use only one or none.

Phillies, Redlegs Announce 3 For 3 Player Swap

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati Redlegs swung a three-for-three straight player deal Saturday.

Spokesmen called 27 year old outfielder Jim Greengrass the key man in the deal. Along with him came veteran catcher Andy Seminick and 24-year-old Glen Gorbous, also an outfielder, who hails from Drumheller, Alberta, Canada.

To get these three, the Phillies gave up pitcher Steve Ridzik, catcher Smokey Burgess and young outfielder Stan Palys.

Greengrass hit only .280 last year but had 95 runs batted in, and had 100 RBIs in 1953.

Hours later, the Phillies added another player, picking up veteran infielder Roy Smalley from the Milwaukee Braves for an undisclosed amount of cash plus a minor league player to be delivered later.

Little Holds Champions Lead

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Steady Gene Littler and a dependable putter all but wrapped up the $37,500 Tournament of Champions in the third round Saturday, firing a 4-under par 68 to take a tremendous 10-stroke lead over the field.

Once again ignoring a blustery wind that sent most of the other scores kiting and the opposition reeling the 25-year-old Palm Springs professional toured the Desert Inn Country Club course par 36-72 in 33-35-68, for a three-quarter score of 206.

Name Hollister To Head Foreign Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—John B. Hollister, Cincinnati Republican and executive director of the Hoover Commission, will head the administration's new foreign aid program effective July 1.

An associate and long-time supporter of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, he will take over duties now handled by Harold E. Stassen, whose Foreign Operations Administration goes out of existence June 30. Stassen has been named a special assistant to President Eisenhower on disarmament problems.

The White House announced that Eisenhower will appoint Hollister to head the International Cooperation Administration, which will be set up within the State Department to take over supervision of economic aid from the FOA.

KIDNAPERS OF CALIFORNIA REALTOR GET LIFE SENTENCE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two men who kidnaped a California real estate man for $500,000 ransom that was never paid both will get life sentences by order of the State Supreme Court.

The high court reversed a superior court judge in ordering the penalties for Harold Jackson, who had been sentenced to death, and Joseph Lear, who had been given a life sentence without possibility of parole.

A 43 decision by the Supreme Court held there was no evidence of bodily harm to the victim, Leonard Moskovitz, within the meaning of California's little Lindbergh law.

Large military radar installations cost $300,000 each.

Ex-Buc Hurler Stars In Relief; Cardinal Outfield Gets 8 Hits

NEW YORK (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals combined timely hitting with sparkling relief pitching by southpaw Paul LaPalme Saturday to defeat the New York Giants 6-2 and regain third place in the National League.

LaPalme took over after starter Brooks Lawrence had yielded a run in the opening inning and had loaded the bases with nobody out in the second. LaPalme permitted one run to score on an infield out but then shut the door in the Giants' faces the rest of the way, to notch his first victory of the year.

Award Bears $150,000 From Player Raids

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A final decree has been entered in federal court here awarding the Chicago Bears professional football team a $150,000 judgment against the Hamilton, Ont. Tigercats, in a player raid case.

The Bears sued the Canadian club when Frank Dempsey, who had played with the Bears for several seasons, jumped his contract to go to Hamilton. He was signed by the Hamilton coach, Carl Coyles.

Walter B. Hummel of Miami, attorney for the Bears, said Hamilton agreed to the settlement, the final decree was issued late Friday by Judge John W. Holland.

A permanent injunction also was entered restraining the Hamilton club from any efforts to sign up players under contract with the Bears.

The suit was filed here because both Voyles and Dempsey have homes in Florida.

Rookie infielder Ben Tompkins of the Philadelphia Phillies was a football star at Texas and played in the 1931 Cotton Bowl game.

Stock Car Racing Gets Under Way This Friday

Stock car racing commissioner Charles Finch announced yesterday the Morgan County fairgrounds track is in top shape for the racing season which opens this Friday night, May 6.

Many of the local and area drivers have already made an appearance on the track to try out their cars and equipment so as to make the necessary adjustments needed to place their "hot-rods" in A-number one shape.

The racing program will operate on Central Standard Time, the same as it did last season. The time trials will start at 7:30 with the racing scheduled to begin at 8:30.

Bryce Osborne will again be in charge of the racing. The Bushnell track operator is well known to racing fans in central Illinois.

One of the many attractions at the track this year will be a stock car powered by an airplane motor. This, along with several other "firsts," promises to make this year's program the finest ever.

Griggsville Nite Hawks Open Season Saturday

Griggsville Nite Hawks open their season at home, May 7.
Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., a very strong team, will be the first team to appear at the Western Ill. Fairgrounds diamond to help the Nite Hawks open their 1935 season, Saturday, May 7—8 p. m.

Manager Glenn Willard has again booked some of the strongest teams in Central and Western Illinois to furnish the entertainment and fine sport for the fans of Pike Co. and surrounding counties.

Many players that were on the 1934 team will be back again and other players will be added as the season progresses. Fans will be anxious to see Gene Wade in action again as Gene has spent two years in the army and played a lot of ball with an army team at Camp Gordon, Ga.

There will be at least 25 home night and day games. Season tickets are on sale at a very reasonable price of $5. Anyone wanting tickets may get them from any member of the ball team or anyone connected with the I. O. O. F. Athletic Association.

A complete schedule will be published at an early date. Make your plans early to see some of the best baseball played in Western Illinois at Griggsville this summer.

Nance Lad Cops Swift Stakes

NEW YORK (AP)—Boston Doge's unbeaten record was snapped at 10 straight Saturday when Nance's Lad took the lead in the stretch to capture the $25,500 Swift Stakes at Belmont Park.

Informant finished second while Boston Doge could do no better than third in the seven-furlong race.

Nance's Lad was ridden by J. Choquette, who steered his mount home the winner by at least four lengths after disposing of the pace-setting Georgian near the head of the stretch.

The winner's time was 1:24 2-5 on a track called good after being sloppy earlier in the day.

Nance's Lad paid $28.00, $8.90 and $3.20. Informant was $7.20 and $2.90 to place, while Boston Doge—odds-on favorite of a crowd of 40,368—paid $2.20 to show.

BISPLINGHOFF TAKES NORTH SOUTH TOURNEY

Bisplinghoff moved in front at the 14th hole of the 36-hole match and never lost the lead.

Rivera's Single Gives White Sox 3-1 Nip Of Bosox

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Rivera, who had been sidelined with a .184 average, came off the bench and singled with the bases loaded in the seventh inning to lift the White Sox to a 3-1 victory over Boston Saturday.

George Susce, Jr., 23-year-old rookie son of the Kansas City coach who was making his starting debut, had duelled Sandy Consuegra to a 1-1 draw until he suddenly developed a wild spell in the seventh.

Susce loaded the bases on three walks and was relieved by Ellis Kinder, Sherm Lollar, who had his fifth homer for the first White Sox run, grounded into a forceout at the plate. Then Rivera "blooped" a single to left to tally Johnny Groth and George Kell.

Consuegra hurled a four-hitter for his second victory of the season. His first triumph was a three-hitter over Kansas City. The only run off him materialized from back-to-back doubles by Billy Goodman and Grady Hatton.

NEW YORK (AP)—Eldon (Rip) Repulski, the St. Louis Cardinal batting sensation, credits Joe Medwick, old "Ducky Wucky" of the Gas House Gang, with hitting tips that helped him get off to a fast start. His present average is .385.

Medwick sold some insurance to Repulski last year and visited at his Belleville, Ill. home from time to time. During one of those dinner table conferences, Medwick advised the 26-year-old outfielder to change his stance.

"I opened up my stance a little to face the pitcher more," said Repulski. "Medwick said he used to hit that way too. I found out I could hit the high pitch a lot better that way. I used to have a tendency to take my eye off the ball."

Repulski made the change last summer, after he found himself at the 236 level in mid-June. It must have paid off for he wound up at .283, an improvement on his rookie year.

"I'd like to hit a hard .280 and drive in 100 runs," he said Friday night as rain postponed a game with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds. "The best year I ever had was last at Columbus (Ga.) in the Sally League in 1930. I always hit a lot of doubles, especially at St. Louis with that long left field wall."

4 Blueboy Pitchers Allow 18 Hits; Next IC Game Tuesday

ALTON (Special)—Although collecting 12 hits including a homer, two triples and three doubles the Illinois College Blueboys dropped a 16-7 non-conference tilt to Shurtleff when the pitching of the Millermen failed to hold up.

With Gene Farmer on the mound earlier this year, the Blueboys defeated Shurtleff 6-3. However, Farmer started Friday's game against Washington U. and was injured in the fifth inning. His twisted knee kept him out of yesterday's game but the Ashland fireballer expects to be ready to go this Tuesday.

It was IC's pitching, or lack of pitching, that told the story of yesterday's loss. Four hurlers went to the mound for the Milltoppers and were touched for 18 hits. The most effective IC hurler was Roger Curfman, up until yesterday strictly a first baseman. The former Perry High School star took over in the sixth inning and allowed just one run in the final three innings.

Gengel started on the mound for the Blueboys but a sore arm forced him out of the game in the second inning. Leonard took over and was relieved by Dornacher in the fifth.

IC collected 12 hits with Bill Kaufmann and Don Hazelrigg leading the attack. Kaufmann, former Routt product, had three hits including a home run and a double. Hazelrigg, who played his high school baseball under Bob Kraus, had two long triples. Other extra base hits were doubles by Dick Barnes and Rog Curfman.

Jim Phalen, IC catcher, was forced out of the game in the fourth inning when a blister developed on his left hand. Eddie Farmer took over behind the plate.

IC's next game is Tuesday when they travel to Principia.

5 New Additions Make It 23 That Have Been Disciplined By NCAA

NEW YORK (AP)—Five colleges were slapped down in varying degrees by the policy-making council of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. this week, bringing to 23 the number of institutions that have been disciplined since the NCAA entered the enforcement business three years ago.

The action in placing the University of Oklahoma and the University of Cincinnati on probation and reprimanding Dayton, Bethune-Cookman and Virginia Union left most fans wondering what it's all about.

Why, they asked, "is one college put on probation and declared ineligible for bowl games, another given an apparently harmless period of probation and still another let off with a reprimand?"

Still another question is why certain institutions have been singled out for punishment when its generally believed that "everybody" is doing the same thing? Undoubtedly other colleges have broken the rules in one way or another or at least avoided them.

The answer to the first question, as given by Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, is that the council tries to make the punishment fit the crime and to apply it to the sport in which the violations were committed.

Although Oklahoma's president, George L. Cross, has defended the university's practices and argued that the light punishment vindicated the Sooners, the NCAA council's action actually is stronger than it appears.

It's only the second two-year probation ever meted out. The other was handed to Arizona State of Tempe two years ago and lifted when the college got in line with NCAA rules. And it's an ultimatum to Oklahoma to change its habits, or else.

"In the event such action is not taken, I feel certain the council would recommend expulsion to the association's annual meeting," said NCAA president Clarence (Pop) Houston.

Expulsion would make it impossible for Oklahoma to compete against any NCAA members or even to retain its membership in the Big Seven Conference. As it now stands, Oklahoma still can play in the Orange Bowl football game if it wins the Big Seven title and can compete in NCAA championships.

Cincinnati, whose offenses were considered more serious—troubling, paying transportation for prospective athletes and offers of excessive financial aid—was put on probation for only one year but was barred from all NCAA competition and from the games and tournaments that observe NCAA regulations.

Other institutions which have undergone probation in the past two years are Kentucky, Michigan State, Kansas State, North Carolina State, City College of New York and the University of Miami.

In addition, Notre Dame, Seton Hall, Hardin-Simmons, Texas Tech, Arizona, West Texas State and the Border Conference were reprimanded severely and censured for violations of the tryout rule.

Why haven't other colleges been penalized? Well, it's easy to commit a crime when there are no witnesses. And there's always the question of just who's guilty?

Crimsons Take Twin Bill From Carlinville 13-2, 5-2

Meyer Whips Cubs 17th Straight Time, Brooks Cop 7-5 Tilt

BROOKLYN (P)—Russ Meyer, who hasn't lost to Chicago in nearly five years, whipped the Cubs for the 17th consecutive time Saturday as the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers made it 14 victories in 16 starts with a 7-5 victory.

Meyer, who lost to the Cubs on July 16, 1950, permitted five hits but had to weather a ninth-inning storm to walk off with his second triumph without a defeat this season. The temperamental right hander had a one-hit shutout until the sixth when Ransom Jackson slammed his fifth homer of the season after Frankie Baumholtz had singled.

Chicago threw a scare into Meyer in the ninth, scoring three runs on a walk to Jackson, doubles by

Tigers Hold On To 1st, Defeat Senators 11-7

DETROIT (P)—The Detroit Tigers projected their slim and surprising hold on first place in the American League Saturday by trouncing the Washington Senators 11-7 in a "train - abbreviated" game for their seventh straight victory.

Because Washington had to catch a train for Kansas City, the two teams had agreed before the game that no inning would begin after 2½ hours from the start of the game.

So the game was called with Detroit at bat in the eighth. The Tigers had scored one run, had the bases loaded with Ray Boone at bat. Official scorer Edgar Haves ruled that all the outs go into the books up to the final second of play.

That was more than enough for the Tigers, who equalled their longest winning streak since 1950 with a solid 14-hit attack which included five doubles and a two-run homer by Jim Delsing.

Harvey Kuenn, Detroit's brilliant shortstop, had a perfect day at bat with four singles and a double, lifting his batting average to .397.

The victory gave Detroit a 10-5 record, keeping them a half-game ahead of the second place Chicago White Sox. Detroit's big test will start Sunday when the Tigers open a two-game series with the New York Yankees.

Santee Sets Drake Relays Mile Record

By JERRY LISK
DES MOINES (P)—Wes Santee, America's top miler, failed to come even close to a four-minute mile Saturday as he hoped to a 4:04 victory for a new Drake Relays record.

It was plain the Kansas star, heading an 11-mile wind, was just out to beat his old rival, Fred Dwyer — which Santee did by some 30 yards.

The old record was 4:14.5 by Dewey Johnson of Drake in 1952.

Four other records were set here before a Drake Relays record crowd of about 18,000.

Another individual mark was set in the shotput as Bill Nieder of Kansas, on his second try, tossed the iron ball 56 feet, 3¼ inches.

The old record was 55-10½ by Tom Jones of Miami (Ohio) who was dethroned with a third place distance of 53-5½ Saturday.

Pirates Edge Reds 5-4 On Ward's Hit

PITTSBURGH (P)—Pinch-hitter Preston Ward lashed a bases-loaded single in the ninth inning Saturday for a 5-4 Pittsburgh victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Third baseman George Freese, who smashed his first major league home run in the sixth inning, tripled to open the final frame. Jack Shepard and Eugene Freese received intentional passes to set the stage for Ward's winning blow.

Bobby Friend, who relieved Nelson King in the eighth, got credit for the win. The defeat was charged to Jerry Lane who came in the ninth in relief of Bud Podbielniak.

Trailing by three markers, the Redlegs had tied it up at 4-4 in the eighth. Johnny Temple walked and Ray Jablonski doubled him home. Jablonski scored when Eugene Freese threw wild after snagging Ted Kluszewski's slow roller. Gus Bell's single then tied it.

Michigan Grid Team In Spot To Dethrone Big 10 '54 Champions

CHICAGO (P)—Another grueling Big Ten football campaign is beginning to shape up with Michigan's Wolverines getting the nod as "the" team to dethrone Ohio State's champions.

The Wolverines, bolstered by 25 returning lettermen including sensation end Ron Kramer, appear ready to make up slight graduation losses and return to national prominence.

Ohio State, always the team to beat, is one of several clubs to suffer heavy graduation losses. Another drawback for Ohio State is the psychological factor that the team cannot return to the Rose Bowl.

Rebuilding processes are going on throughout the conference during spring practice but Minnesota's Murray Warmath seems to have the toughest job.

Minnesota lost 17 men by graduation including half a dozen linemen and backs. Geno Cappellotti and Bob McNamara.

Ohio State's Rose Bowl champions lose some top men but Woody Hayes still has enough of last year's reserve strength left to present a contender. Also, returning to lead the Buckeye brigade will be All-American halfback Howard Cassady.

One of Ohio State's biggest question marks is fullback Hubert Bobo. Bobo became the Bucks' top blocker as a sophomore in addition to his great running ability. But the handsome youngster, among other things, is having scholastic difficulties and might not be eligible.

Michigan's weakness is at tackle and Coach Bennie Oosterbaan is hunting for a left half and a fullback. Other than that, the Wolves are set. Toughest man of all to replace will be tackle Art Walker. Oosterbaan can always plug the fullback spot with quarterback-fullback Lou Baldacci if he doesn't come up with someone to replace Fred Bear.

Michigan's big man in the backfield will be versatile Tony Branniff who has fully recovered from a knee operation. The Wolves are deep at center and the linebacking posts as usual. They are also strong at guards and ends.

Kramer, all conference as a sophomore last fall, is a cinch to become one of the nation's top ends.

Wisconsin, finishing in a second place tie with Michigan, has one big problem and chances are it'll never be solved. Coach Ivy Williamson is looking for someone to replace All America fullback Alan "The Horse" Ameche.

The Badgers, nevertheless, will be strong, especially with their one-two quarterback punch in veterans Jim Miller and Jim Haluska. Williamson's biggest losses besides Ameche were ends Ron Locklin and Jim Temp.

Iowa has 18 lettermen returning and figures to be a threat for conference honors. Coach Forest Evashevski has been experimenting with the Split-T and the single wing

Saturday's Kentucky Derby To Be Richest; Nashua A Co-Favorite

By JOHN CHANDLER
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (P)—The richest, and what promises to be one of the most exciting, of all Kentucky Derbies will be held under the twin spires of ancient Churchill Downs next Saturday.

Most of the experts, excepting the followers of the California invader, Swaps, fully expect a duel to the wire between two old rivals Nashua and Summer Tan.

This will be the 81st running of America's most colorful horse race, a mile and one quarter of the best 3-year-olds in the land, with derby glory, a gold cup and guaranteed $100,000 awaiting the winner.

Guessing on the size of the field ranged anywhere from around eight starters, to a dozen, depending on how many owners feel free enough with the pocket book to put up the $1,500 starting fee.

Nashua, darling of William Woodward Jr.'s Belair Stud, rules the favorite, having been undefeated in four starts this season. These include three one hundred grand races, the Flamingo at Hialeah, the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park and the Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

The racing world thrilled April 23 when Nashua trailed Summer Tan for most of the Wood Memorial mile and one eighth, then in a desperate lunge at the finish managed to register a slim neck decision.

Summer Tan, a speed demon owned by Mrs. John W. Galbreath, wife of the Pittsburgh Pirates owner, seems certain to be made second choice in the betting by the usual derby day throng or around 100,000.

Swaps is the major uncertainty in the derby pie, who might pop out like the blackbird and knock hopes of the easterners sky high. This colt, owned by California breeder Ed Ellsworth, won the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby last winter, and packs a terrific speed wallop.

But Racing Fool, from Harry P. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy stable, also jumped into prominence Thursday when he won the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland. Hunch players recall that it was another Cain Hoy horse, Dark Star, that edged the mighty Native Dancer two years ago.

But the major interest looms in what may expect to be a repeat of the Nashua-Summer Tan battle for supremacy. Nashua defeated Summer Tan in three of their four races last year, never by more than a half length. Their first meeting this year in the Wood Memorial was the most thrilling duel of all between two of the best sophomore colts to come along in several seasons.

Racing fans then asked whether Summer Tan might have needed his race in the Wood, and would the additional eighth of a mile in the derby make a difference for either horse — or for Swaps or some other contender.

Last year, Little Determine, Kentucky-bred but California owned, came easy to defeat 16 others in Louisville's great mint julep classic. The year before the sports world was stunned as Dark Star upset the great Native Dancer.

Flying Fury, another Cain Hoy horse also is among the possible starters. So are the Murcin Stables' Jean's Joe, W-L Ranch's Honeys Alibi, the Hasty House Farm's Prince Noor and Alibit, and Harvey C. Fruehauf's Blue Len.

Eddie Arcaro will ride Nashua, seeking his sixth derby victory. Arcaro has ridden more winners than any other jockey, and Nashua now looms as an odds-on favorite — a horse, which if he won, would pay less than even money.

Eric Guerin, winner of the 1947 Derby aboard Jet Pilot, but who just missed with Native Dancer, will handle Summer Tan as usual. Willie Shoemaker, the nation's top race rider for two years, rides Swaps. Shoemaker had the 3-1 derby favorite, Correlation, last year, but wound up sixth.

FAN BREEZES BY BILL MERRIS

Jim Bonds, former Chapin High School and Illinois College basketball star, was honored recently by the Commanding General of Camp Rucker, Alabama. In the army and stationed at Rucker, Bonds was praised by CG Brig. Gen. Carl Hutton for his fine performance in the Third Army Basketball Tournament playoffs at Camp Gordon, Florida. Certificates of achievements were presented members of the Camp Rucker team.

Jim was the leading scorer in the playoffs averaging 26 points per game. For the season he made 325 points in 19 games, which is over 17 points per game for the season. Bonds played at a forward position, a position he may play at IC next year. The Chapin grad will be relieved of his army duties in June and plans call for enrolling at IC next fall. Jim was a standout pivot man for the Bluebays two years ago when IC was a member of the CCI conference.

Local kid golfers will have a chance to receive expert instructions this summer if plans pan out. Nichols Park pro Wood Phillips informs us that kids aged 10 to high school age can receive instruction free at the park course this summer. The program will last about six weeks with Jim Buckley, Bob Munk and Wood doing the tutoring. It sure sounds like a good deal to us. The only thing we'll have to do is get 'em to raise the age to about—well let's say 24. (How about it?)

Nichols Park will also be the site of the District High School golf tournament. Some 60 high school golfers will gather at the park Saturday, May 14, and the winners will go to Champaign for the state finals.

Scott, Lewis Hurl Jacks To Central Loop Wins Number 4 And 5

CARLINVILLE (Special)—Coach Bob Kraushaar's Jacksonville Crimsons captured Central Conference baseball wins numbers four and five yesterday afternoon as they journeyed to Carlinville to hand the hosts setbacks in both ends of a doubleheader. With Larry Scott on the mound, the Jacks took the opener 13-2 in six innings. Bill Lewis came back to hurl the Crimsons to a 5-2 win in the nightcap. The second game went seven innings.

Larry Scott came within one pitch of a no-hitter in the opening game. Scott handcuffed the hosts in the opener for five and two thirds innings. The JHS southpaw set Carlinville down in order in the first four innings and faced only four men in the fifth—one man getting in on a walk. The Crimsons hurler continued his fine hurling in the sixth and final inning and had a no-hitter with two men out and two strikes on the batter. However, a single, double and error followed and produced two Carlinville runs.

Scott fanned eight. Richie Fernandez connected for a homer for the Jacks in the opener. The Crimsons secondacker hit a two run blast in the second inning. Other extra base hits included doubles by McEvers and Fairfield and a pair by Danny Woodward.

Bill Lewis went to the hill in the second game and was just as effective as Scott. The Crimson right-hander gave up just two runs and two hits in seven innings. The hosts scored single markers in the third and fourth innings as the Jacks committed a total of five errors in the two innings.

The Jacks collected a total of 13 hits. Larry Scott paced the attack with a double and triple while doubles were also hit by Bob McEvers and Bill Nunn, and Jack Fairfield.

Lewis had seven strikeouts. Box scores:

Greater Jacksonville Is Visualized As New Council Begins Duties

Predictions of a greater Jacksonville and reminiscences into past decades of public service were intermingled at the city council chamber last night where new aldermen who were elected April 19 were sworn into office.

Marking the dawn of a new era in city government, the council rose from eight to 14 aldermen, as the result of addition of three wards by redistricting.

Red Cross Needs 80 Young Women; Overseas Duty

Opportunities for immediate placement as recreation workers in the American Red Cross Overseas Club program are now open to qualified young women between the ages of 23 and 30, it was announced Saturday by Leslie This, director of personnel, Red Cross Midwestern Area Office.

In all a total of 80 young women are needed to provide leisure-time programs for U. S. troops presently serving in remote areas in Korea, Europe, and North Africa.

The Red Cross Overseas Club program is part of its traditional responsibility of service to the armed forces and supplements the Army Special Service program.

Mr. This stated that most of the young women are needed to replace recreation workers now returning from Korea, where they drive club-motors to isolated areas to encourage and plan soldier participation in recreational activities.

In Europe and North Africa, the recreation workers operate Red Cross centers with the assistance of local civilian and U. S. dependent volunteers. The centers help provide servicemen with the opportunity to become better acquainted with local community resources and to participate in recreation activities.

To be eligible, women must have college training with a special aptitude for group recreation, music, dramatics, and art. Physical fitness is also essential, and applicants must be willing to accept assignment wherever needed in the world.

For all recreation workers assigned overseas, the Red Cross pays maintenance, travel expenses, and provides an initial uniform allowance. The salary scale will be determined according to background and experience.

Women interested in receiving further information on these openings should write to the Director of Personnel Service, Midwestern Area Office, American National Red Cross, 4050 Landell Boulevard, St. Louis 8, Mo., or contact their nearest Red Cross chapter.

IBSSS Primary Students To Give Spring Program

The children from the Primary Department of the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School will present their annual spring program in the school auditorium Wednesday morning, May 4, at 11:10 o'clock.

Forty-two children will participate in the musical, depicting the activities of a day in May in the life of a small child. Patricia Giles as Patty, Judith Freeman as Sandy Lee, and Janet Waverling as Mary Ann carry the dialogue interpreting the story of the day. Each of the six groups participating has a special number.

The pupils from Miss Elizabeth Caldwell's room dramatize the pony song "We're Galloping." Pupils from Mrs. Norma Reid's kindergarten class depict enjoyable rides on the Merry-Go-Round and Ferris Wheel with Ronald Dean Price as soloist. Rhythm fills the air when Mrs. Janie Weghoff's pupils present their rhythm band instruments in a specialty number. Mrs. Helen Beard's first grade girls are very realistic in their song "I'm a Little Tea Pot." The girls from Miss Rose McGuire's and Miss Miriam Russell's rooms cast the magic spell of the sandman with their singing of "When Mother Takes the Fairy Book."

Mrs. Pannie Weghoff has served as chairman of this year's program assisted by the other primary teachers. Mrs. Armeada Zell is the musical director of the program.

The public is cordially invited to attend this Spring Program.

Telephone, Rail Strikes Widen; Violence Spreads

ATLANTA (AP)—Another dynamite blast and spreading service curtailment Saturday marked the 48th day of the widespread telephone and railroad strikes in the South.

A Southern Bell Telephone Co. repeater station near Chester, S.C., was demolished by dynamite, knocking out a main north-south coaxial cable carrying radio and television circuits.

The strike against the vast Louisville and Nashville Railroad system spread to another line in Kentucky and pickets disrupted service on another railroad in Birmingham.

Seeking to curb violence and sabotage in the two strikes, Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee Saturday offered rewards totaling $11,500 for seven instances of property damage in the telephone strike. They made a total of $42,500 he has posted in rewards for convictions in connection with violence in the two labor disputes.

Another week of efforts by the National Mediation Board to end the L&N strike ended in Washington without developments. Both sides took part in mediation sessions which recessed until Monday. The rail walkout involves a dispute over a pension and welfare fund.

Delegates to the Scott county P. T. A. Council were named as follows: Mrs. Dana O'Donnell, Mrs. George Lawson and Mrs. William Seacock, with alternate delegates, Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. Herman Flynn and Mrs. Ray Cherry.

Mrs. Frances Long presided over the business meeting at which time it was reported that $131.77 was made at the recent bake sale held by the P. T. A.

An auditing committee, composed of Albert Herring and Mrs. Helen Thomas were appointed to report at the next meeting.

The annual project, a movie projector for the school, has been ordered and will be presented to the grade school at a later date.

Principal James Dudley gave a report on his trip to the state P. T. A. convention which he attended April 14, 15 and 16 in Chicago.

A demonstration on the use of the new dial telephones, which will go into use in Winchester the latter part of May was given by Norman Carlson and Mr. Fisher, representatives from the Illinois Telephone Co.

I. L. Kimmel spoke briefly on the problems arising from the additional number of first graders expected to enter school this next fall, and stated that there was a possibility that the first graders would be able to attend school for only half days due to the lack of room and facilities to accommodate the expected number.

Captain Pearl Norbert from Salvation Army Booth Memorial hospital in St. Louis, who is a registered technologist as well as a Salvation Army worker, was the guest speaker for the meeting and spoke on the subject "Family Meets in a Changing World."

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the second grade mothers.

Dick Hyer Awarded Journalistic Honors; Started FHA Expose

Dick Hyer of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, who received his early journalistic training as a reporter for the Jacksonville Journal, has won one of the nation's highest newspaper awards.

With William P. Walsh of the Call-Bulletin the former local man, son of Mrs. Julian W. Hall, 239 Caldwell street, has been awarded the Sigma Delta Chi honors for their expose of the FHA "suede shoe boy" racketeers.

Hyer and Walsh will be awarded bronze medallions from the fraternity for their prize winning series May 17 at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City.

The career of the Jacksonville man in the newspaper field has been a source of pride to his relatives and friends. He was graduated from Jacksonville high school in 1921, attended the University of Illinois, and has been in California since 1927.

The Hyer-Walsh citation tops a list of 14 announced in Washington, D. C., at the midyear meeting of the fraternity's national executive council. Medallions and plaques inscribed "For Distinguished Service in Journalism" go to the winners.

Hyer and Walsh were paid high tribute in the official Sigma Delta Chi citation. It said:

"These two reporters demonstrated the perception and enterprise that uphold and enhance the finest traditions of journalism, in that their investigation of the FHA frauds, affecting home owners all over the nation, were conducted in the face of official discouragement, evasion, and coverup."

Conferred With Eisenhower
"Their intelligence and their persistence led to President Eisenhower personally taking a hand in the investigation and brought on a cleanup of a shameful situation."

Hyer and Walsh, in a team effort, directly brought about last year's crackdown on FHA irregularities, and their work was climaxed by a nationwide news beat—an enviable journalistic feat in itself—on the announcement that President Eisenhower was personally ordered a drastic FHA shakeup.

During the investigation Hyer made a trip to Washington and conferred personally with President Eisenhower.

The President moved quickly and vigorously, accepting the resignation of FHA Commissioner Guy T. Hollyday and ordering seizure of all FHA records pertaining to home loan procedures under which the "suede shoe" racketeers operated.

Many more firings and prosecutions followed. Cases rising from the big cleanup are still turning up before the nation's grand juries and courts.

Police Magistrate William Messersmith, who was sworn in at the city hall last night, was an observer in court Saturday morning.

The following fines were assessed by the retiring magistrate:

Leonard A. Smith, $50 for reckless driving; Larry E. Strube, Virginia, $25 for reckless driving; Donald E. Spinks, $25 for speeding; Jess Bostick, $25 for speeding; Harry Joe Gossett, $20 for speeding.

Police said radar was used in the arrest of one defendant. Gossett was arrested at Nichols park by Park Patrolman Harry Murphy.

Other fines included four for drunkenness; two for parking U-turns, one for parking on a sidewalk; two for parking on the wrong side of streets.

Is Low-Quality Product Killing The Hog Business

This year the University of Illinois Swine Growers' Day was held Thursday before Easter Sunday. Two hog raisers from the Rock Island area were talking about what they were going to have for Easter Sunday dinner. One said his family was going to have roast lamb. The other one said his store had run out of Polish hams so he settled for a turkey.

This kind of talk, on U. I. hog day, sounded a little queer, what with top butcher hogs selling for less than $18.

Some observers claim a poor-tasting product is killing the demand for pork. They point to dull consumer demand for the American pork and soaring pork imports from foreign countries. They say that the packer won't pay a premium for premium quality hogs and the consumer can't locate good pork every day, even if he is willing to pay a higher price for it.

Louis Boddy, Jacksonville farmer and livestock man, is concerned about the future of pork and believes that pork is going to suffer more unless hogs are graded according to quality and priced according to quality.

Boddy has handed the writer an article that appeared last month in the St. Louis Daily Livestock Reporter. It was written by Harold

N. Simpson, Wheaton chemist and nutritionist.

Less Pork Eaten

Simpson points to increasing per capita consumption of beef, poultry and eggs while the per capita consumption of pork has been ebbing every year.

"A Corsican ham, a peanut-fed ham, and the ham from a garbage-fed hog all come from swine, and all can be equally fat, but that doesn't mean that they all have the same flavor or that the customers will like them all equally well," Simpson writes. "Yet the strange thing is that while there is so much more variation in pork that there is in beef, live hogs of a given size all sell within a penny or two a pound, whereas beef of a given size may have a spread of 10 to 15 cents a pound live weight. In the meat markets there may be as much as 40 cents a pound spread on the same cut of beef, depending upon its grade, whereas in the pork market if they're all 10-pound loins, they all sell for about the same price."

"A Whole Generation"

"In the past 20 years there has been quite a change in the feeding of hogs and quite a change in the quality of the pork that is marketed, and the people buying pork don't like that quality. It isn't so much the fat—anyone can cut the fat off the outside of the pork—but it's the greasiness through the lean and the poor flavor."

"They will buy a prime T-bone steak that has a lot of fat on it and will cut off a good share of that fat and eat the lean because they like the taste of the lean. They don't do that on pork because they don't like the taste of the lean, the flavor isn't there. In the past 20 years a whole generation has grown up with very little taste for good pork. If leanness were the important thing then veal should be the prize meat, but it isn't."

He points out that people are paying $1.13 per pound for imported Danish hams and foreign imports last year amounted to the hams from five and a half-million hogs. "The imports of canned hams in January, 1955, when our pork market was too low, went up 18," Simpson asserts.

"Stung Once Or Twice"

"As long as pork isn't graded, as long as the customers cannot depend upon the flavor of the pork they get, they are going to be stung once or twice and then they are going to avoid pork."

"But there are a lot of people who have the money and like good pork. Their demand will be met. You can look forward to more foreign hams coming into this country."

"So, unless something is done about first producing more better quality pork, and second, separating that quality pork in the market so the customer who wants good quality pork can get it—unless that is done you are going to see a smaller demand for American pork, smaller numbers of hogs and lower pork prices."

"The packers, the provisioners, the meat market all talk price—got to cut the price of pork to move it—lower price, lower price. The chain stores have been selling pork loins from 29c to 39c a pound. That's certainly low price, but they're not selling much at that price. Meanwhile the high-priced imported hams are booming."

Metal Roofing Course Thursday At Tomhave Farm

A 4-H training school and metal roofing demonstration will be held Thursday, May 5, on the John Tomhave farm. Engineers from the U. I. extension service and the American Zinc Institute will be in charge and all farmers in the area are invited to come for the afternoon meeting, which will begin at 12:30 p.m. standard time.

The main subjects to be discussed will be selection of roofing, applying sheets, short cuts to better repairs, painting metal roofs and grounding metal roofs for lightning protection.

During the morning period 4-H members will repair, paint and ground a metal roof on the Tomhave farm, which is located about three miles north of the public square, on Route 67, to Baldwin Corner and then a quarter-mile east.

This Week... At Dixon Springs

Post Yield From Thinning

Recent thinning in an 18-year-old shortleaf pine plantation produced 500 seven-foot fence posts an acre, according to Station foresters W. R. Boggess and F. W. McMillan. The plantation had 735 trees an acre before thinning. The cut removed 245 trees, leaving 490 an acre for future growth. Practically all trees removed in the thinning had been damaged by the ice storm that occurred in January 1952.

New Dormitory Started

A new dormitory is being built at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station. Dee Robinson, station bulldozer operator, started digging the basement last week. The building will be of rustic design to fit in with the landscape and native rock with the administration building. The new building will provide housing for graduate students who wish to do some of their own work at the station. Facilities will also be provided for group meetings.

Chemical Control Of Brush

Persimmon may be controlled by dormant sprays of eight pounds of 2, 4, 5-T to 100 gallons of fuel oil. Lower concentrations of the acid did not give satisfactory control, according to work recently completed by Fred McMillan, Station forester. Elm and sassafras were controlled by five pounds each of 2, 4-D and 2, 4, 5-T in 150 gallons of fuel oil. The sprays were applied as a basal spray, wetting up to about 18 inches on the stems to the point of runoff.

Legumes Valuable Source Of Nitrogen

A recent summary of the irrigation experiment showed that Ladino clover in the mixture was as good as 300 pounds of ammonium nitrate top-dressed annually for the last seven years. Nitrogen applied at that very heavy rate did not increase Ladino mixture did not increase forage yields. The Ladino clover was apparently supplying adequate nitrogen.

Modern automobiles average about 125,000 miles, on the average throughout their lifetimes, although a third that figure used to be considered satisfactory.

GOOD NEIGHBORS — FRANKLIN STYLE

Everybody who was riding a tractor Friday morning on the Viron Ransom farm, west of Franklin, said that it was a perfect day for plowing.

There were 37 tractors on the place Friday, when the Franklin Lions club sponsored a community drive to help Ransom with his field work. He's doing very well now, following hospitalization for an infected kidney.

The photo above shows part of the workers in front of the Shamrock cafe in Franklin, just before they took on an outside meal of fried chicken or channel cat.

Some of the men who came to help on the plowing project found the going so good that they went home, and plowed, and didn't show up for the dinner.

During the morning Ransom's neighbors plowed 90 acres, harrowed it all, and discing another 70 acres.

Fieldmen in charge of the work were C. Don Ransdell and Pat Kenney.

Those who showed up for the day, and some of them drove quite a few miles before the morning star faded away, were: Wayne McNeeley, George Hills, Robert Jones, Robert Dodsforth, Leo Bergschneider, Louis Smith, Ruel Carpenter, Dick Sayre, Dave Wilson, J. M. Langdon, Don Ransdell, Dick Sweet, Fred Bergschneider, Robert Austiff.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

PLENTY OF JUICY STEAKS AHEAD

There is plenty of good eating ahead for people who like juicy steak and roast beef. These tasty treats will come from the cattle that farmers will be fattening for market during the next few months.

On April 1 farmers in 14 major feeding states had more than 41 million cattle on feed, according to the USDA. This number is 12 percent more than were on feed a year ago and it is about 10 percent more than two years ago, which was the previous record high for this time of the year.

The most spectacular increase in cattle feeding is in California, where some 318,000 head were reported in feedlots on April 1. This number is 54 percent more than were on feed there one year before. California, however, had only 7 percent of the total cattle on feed in the 14 major feeding states.

CORN BELT. Illinois farmers had an estimated 555,000 head of cattle on feed—11 percent more than one year before. Nine corn-belt states reported 3,671,000 head—8 percent more than last year.

Look for plentiful market supplies of fed cattle through May and June. Of the cattle on feed April 1, farmers intended to sell 45 percent before July 1 compared with 43 percent last year. Farmers in the three leading states, Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska, indicated that they would sell about one million fat cattle before July 1—17 percent more than were planned last year. However, actual marketings probably will not show such a large increase as is indicated by farmers' intentions. Expected marketings after July 1 are indicated to be up about 7 percent from last year.

Here are more important facts from the report of cattle on feed April 1:

1. INSHIPMENTS. Shipments of cattle into the corn belt during the first three months of this year were 11 percent larger than during the same period a year ago.

2. NUMBER STARTED ON FEED. Farmers in the three leading states, Iowa, Illinois, and Nebraska, put 10 percent more cattle on feed during the three months than they did last year.

3. WEIGHTS. The increase in numbers being fed consists entirely of cattle weighing less than 1,100 pounds. Numbers weighing over 1,100 pounds shows a reduction of about 13 percent from last year. However, these heavy weights make up only about four percent of the total cattle fed in these three states.

4. KINDS OF FEED. Most of the increase on feed consists of steers, but the largest percentage gains were recorded for heifers. Numbers of steers on feed in the three states were estimated at 13 million head—or 6 percent more than last year. Numbers of heifers on feed were estimated at 382,000 head—23 percent more than a year before. Calves on feed were estimated at 485,000—12 percent more than were being fed on James Adkins, Guy Seymour, Elmer Watkins, A. B. Caldwell, Harry Butcher, Charles Ryan, Paul Ames, Gus Kelly, William K. Ransdell, Robert Darley, Clarence Neal, Roy Whitaker and Loren Moody.

Almost one-fourth of the scientists working in industrial research are studying flight problems.

April 1 last year.

5. TIME ON FEED. In the three leading states, only about 72,000 cattle—30 percent less than last year—had been on feed more than six months; 1,446,000 head or 12 percent more than last year—had been on feed three to six months.

The number on feed less than three months is estimated at 881,000 head—or 18 percent more than last year.

Some of the prospective increase in marketings of fed cattle may be offset by smaller supplies of cheaper beef and by increased consumer demand. Even so, it appears that the seasonal decline in prices of choice cattle may carry into the early summer, while prices for the middle and lower grades may not rise as much as usual this spring.

Mow-Drier Great Aid In Making Good Hay

Many farmers of this area should consider the advisability of using forced air to dry their hay, says Karl Longenbaugh, power use adviser of the Illinois Rural Electric company, Winchester.

In an article prepared for this page, Longenbaugh writes:

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that 25 per cent of the feed value is lost every year by the method that most of us have used in curing or drying our hay. This doesn't take into account the complete losses due to rainstorms that sometimes ruin the hay, or hay lost by spontaneous combustion.

Many times at hay harvest, we trust to luck, or try to be a good weather prophet. Sometimes we lose. Sometimes we get in a hurry to beat a rain and put up hay with too much moisture content. The hay heats and there being no way to cool it, spontaneous combustion results. Farm fire losses are estimated at $100,000,000.00 yearly, of which 5 per cent is due to combustion.

Consequently, to allay fear of fire, we leave the hay in the field until the sun and wind dry it so much that the leaves and fine stems drop off and only the coarse low quality stems are stored. Poor quality hay sells for less money and poor hay reduces animal growth and milk production, unless expensive concentrates are purchased to overcome the hay deficiencies.

Thus, the feeding value of hay and quality of forage produced depends largely upon the method of harvesting and the length of time it is exposed to the weather, together with the stage of the bloom. For example, as you know, alfalfa hay should be cut when it is one-tenth to one-fourth in bloom; red clover, when flowers fade at base of advanced heads, etc. Then the thing for us to do is devote our attention on the length of time it is exposed to the weather.

Considerable Experience

Within the past 10 to 15 years, a great deal of research has been developed and is still being done on the methods of drying hay after it is in the mow. Very good reports have come from these experiments. With a main duct in the center of the hay mow and lateral ducts or slotted floor along the sides of the main duct that will let the forced air evenly through the hay, and with a fan of from 38" to 42" in size (depending on size of mow), and a motor will reduce the moisture content to 12 per cent to 15 per cent, which is desirable for U. S. No. 1 hay.

The leaves and fine stems of hay store 75 per cent of the food value in the hay, and leaves start falling off when the moisture in the hay is about 35 per cent. By cutting the hay, letting it field cure to 35 per cent to 40 per cent moisture content, and putting it in the barn loft for forced-air drying, one retains the leaves, color, and food value. During the summer, in good weather, most hay will field cure to 35 per cent to 40 per cent moisture content after six to eight hours. This makes it possible to cut hay in the morning after the dew is off and put in the barn that evening. Some farmers allow the hay to lie in the swath overnight. When the dew is off the next morning they rake it into windrows, let wind and sun cure the hay to proper moisture content and put it in the barn.

Leaves Are Important

Hay may be chopped and blown in barn lofts, or put in loose, or baled when forced air is used, resulting in more and better quality hay harvested per acre, and will cut down on the commercial feed required to be fed. For example, if hay as cut has 50 per cent leaves by weight, and hay fed has only 30 per cent leaves, the yield has dropped from three tons per acre to a little over two tons. The cost of buying linseed meal and corn cob meal to replace it would be $37.00 per acre harvested. On 20 acres replacing the loss would amount to $740.00. Saving this amount would be good returns on any farm.

In tests at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station over four years, the feeding of good hay meant a difference in daily gain for beef cattle of one-third of a pound per head over poor quality feed. In tests in other parts of the country, the difference showed up as much as one-half pound per head per day.

For dairy cows a greater saving was found. In two years, some dairymen report increased income over feed costs by $54.00 per cow per year, using mow cured hay. We have made a study of preparing the barn loft for curing hay and would be glad to pass on the information to those interested.

NO WHEAT 3 YEARS? ALLOTMENT POSSIBLE

Farmers on land on which no wheat was seeded for grain for any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955 may apply for a 1956 wheat acreage allotment, according to Charles R. Gibson, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for grain for any of those years, the farmer must apply in writing to his county ASC committee by Aug. 31, 1955, Gibson said.

Blank application forms are available at the county ASC office for use in filing requests for allotments.

The county ASC office is located on the second floor, American Bankers Building, Jacksonville.

ENCOURAGING THE VOTERS

A notion persists in some places in America that British politicians are less political and more statesmanlike than American.

Maybe this is so, though it probably would take a pretty exhaustive look at the record to prove the matter one way or another.

But certainly, off their recent showing, the British politicians don't appear too different from their cousins across the Atlantic.

We had occasion to note not long ago that the Labor party patched up its differences with leftwing Aneurin Bevan in anticipation of an early election test with the ruling Conservatives.

Now it's the Conservatives whose political shirtil is hanging. With a vote definitely fixed for May 26, Prime Minister Eden's government proposed sharp reductions in British taxes.

The cuts would aid all workers and industrial firms, and free some 2,400,000 from paying any income taxes at all.

Of course the Conservatives had a good, rational explanation for the move. They're trying to encourage business to step up production. No doubt. But they chose a mighty convenient time to offer the encouragement.

Nobody really questions that what they're aiming at is to encourage British voters to go out May 26 and mark the Conservative ballot.

FREEDOM IN INDOCHINA

For many weeks Formosa has been snatching headlines in America. But it could be that the cause of freedom is in more acute difficulty in Indochina.

At the Geneva conference in 1954, France and the West agreed to a division of the Indochinese province of Viet Nam, by which the Communist Vietminh gained the rich, populous northern sector of that land.

Realists recognize then that the remaining free portion, centered on southerly Saigon, would have great trouble fighting off the further encroachments of communism. Weakness was the evident keynote.

Events have borne out the realists' fears. No Vietminh armies fed by Chinese supplies have crossed the truce border. But civil war is on, and if it goes much farther the Indochinese Communists will clearly be the beneficiaries.

The new Vietnamese premier, Ngo Dinh Diem, has been violently challenged by the leaders of three religious sects supported by private armies. The streets of Saigon are alive with gunfire.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, America's special ambassador to Viet Nam, has been in Washington conferring with President Eisenhower on this rising crisis.

The French are hoping that when he returns to Saigon he will urge the premier to quit in favor of another who might somehow gain the support of the sect leaders. They say Diem never has been popular.

But the premier insists he has the power to crush the private sect armies and unify backing for his regime. Up to now the French have restrained him, with the advice and consent of General Collins.

Decision is demanded by the tumbling nature of events. If Diem is retained but kept under military wraps, civil strife may reduce his government to a shadow. With a Viet Nam election scheduled for 1956 under the Geneva truce terms, such a condition surely would go far toward destroying all hope of blocking a Communist victory. The odds are tough enough at best.

Apparently the United States is at the point where it must decide whether to let Diem use force against the sect armies, or try to push him out as the French wish.

This is no place for a policy of drift and let drift. For, as we have seen too many times around the world, such a policy aids only the Communist enemy, and we ought long since to have done with that.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The tired businessman might prolong his health and life if he really learned to think of his job in terms of romance rather than work.

"I have been resurrected by this idea," said Harvey Greenspan, a former six-ulcer man.

At 42 Greenspan, a financial genius, cashed in his chips, figuring he would soon die. Now at 61 he has chipped in his cash — some $400,000 — to pioneer in the marketing of a new vitamin-rich fruit juice concentrate made from a little-known Puerto Rican cherry called the acerola.

"It is my latest and maybe my last romance," he said cheerfully during a visit here. "But however it turns out, it is more fun than buying chorus girls jewelry. I don't want that kind of romance."

Greenspan learned the bitter way the dollar can come from pursuing the dollar too hard for its own sake.

He worked his way through Columbia University here, specializing in business law. At 30 he had his own financial firm. For the next dozen years he worked himself ragged flitting back and forth across the country buying, reorganizing and selling corporations. One day in 1936 he collapsed. In addition to wealth he had piled up six king-size ulcers.

"I had more ulcers than freckles," he recalled. "A doctor told me that if I didn't undergo an operation for the removal of my stomach I'd die."

Greenspan thought it over and decided he'd rather die than part with his stomach. He sold out his business interests and moved to Florida, figuring "I might as well be warm while I was dying."

"I took good care of my ulcers. For two years I did nothing but loaf and fish. Then I began to fear I'd die of boredom."

"I swore that if I ever got well, I'd be the busiest — and happiest — man in 48 states. And I am."

Greenspan never fully conquered all his ulcers but, as he says, "We worked out an agreement so we'd be able to get along together on a basis of mutual respect."

In a few years Greenspan, now board chairman of the B.B. Corp., became a citrus magnate. In keeping with his new philosophy, his office in his Lakeland, Fla., cannery plant is in a kitchen, where he directs operations from a comfortable arm chair. The telephone is in the next room.

In 1949 while developing a citrus concentrate that could be taken by children allergic to orange juice, he conferred with Dr. James R. Wilson of the American Medical Assn. in Chicago. During the conversation Dr. Wilson, a nutritionist, mentioned that the Puerto Rican acerola berry was up to 80 times as rich in Vitamin C as orange juice, and should prove a good natural source of this vital element for undernourished children.

After five years of experimentation and plantation building in Puerto Rico, he has 25,000 producing acerola trees, 25,000 more planted. This year he expects to market six million cans of apple juice blended with acerola concentrate, estimates a market of 24 million cans within another few years, but sees no prospect of the product drying up the nation's thirst of orange juice.

Broilers and Fryers on May List of Plentiful Foods

COMMUNICATION

Editor Journal-Courier
Jacksonville, Illinois
Dear Editor:

Chicago's proposed plan for decentralizing its public school system seems to be a straw in the wind which indicates that no one is satisfied with the increase in size of school districts and the weakening of the link between home and school which results.

In the recent vote on building a new junior high school in Jacksonville, Woodson and Murrayville seemed by their vote to indicate dissatisfaction of a similar nature. I should like to see published in our papers the honest opinions of Woodson and Murrayville parents on how our present unit school district operates in the education of their children. It might be helpful, too, to air the opinions of those parents living in the county who do not yet live in a unit school district.

Jacksonville has always been noted for its pioneering spirit in education; if we work together now for a sound solution of our own educational problems, we may point the way for their solution on a national level.

Very sincerely yours,
Margaret D. Perry

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

This is the peak marketing period for last fall's pig crop. The supply is larger than last year. So this all adds up to more ham, spareribs, picnic, bacon and loin roasts at economical prices.

The United States Department of Agriculture reports other plentiful foods for May. Broilers and fryers are in large supply again and offer good protein at reasonable prices. Beef is plentiful, too. So are eggs, both canned and fresh oranges and grapefruit, dairy products (milk and cheese) and potatoes.

All winter we've been using chilled orange juice poured from a container. This juice, pressed from oranges in Florida, shipped rapidly to northern cities under refrigeration and sold in quart paper cartons has had considerable success this past winter.

This "chilled" (not frozen) juice generally is marketed with fresh dairy products, either from refrigerated cases at food stores or delivered to homes by the milkman. It follows the current trend toward time and labor-saving food products. All you have to do is pour from the carton.

Processors in California have prepared juice this way on order for hotels and restaurants for years and in Florida it has also been prepared for local sale. But last year was the first time it was tried for long-distance shipment.

MONDAY'S MENU: Cold sliced pork, chili sauce, potato pancakes, canned corn with sliced green peppers, yeast bread, butter or margarine, appleauce, open-face pie, coffee, tea, milk.

'Leaks' to the Press Are Classified as Good or Bad

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen made quite a speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington. The subject was "Peace," which is Governor Stassen's new Cabinet assignment. At the end of his text he warned the editors:

"May I respectfully ask that you avoid attempts to quickly prejudice or sensationally publish presumed leaks?"

Washington has been hearing a great deal about leaks to newsmen here of late. There was Assistant Secretary of State Carl McCord's leak of the Yalta papers, which was more of a plant, but which should be classified as a good leak.

Then there was Adm. Robert B. Carney's leak on Quemoy, and Matsuo. It was supposed to have been a bad leak, but it may turn out for the best.

Finally there is Defense Secretary C. E. Wilson's new lid on Pentagon news which is supposed to make the armed services leak-proof.

Governor Stassen's warning against leaks of all kinds is interesting, however, in that he himself, last May 30, put over one of the most effective leaks ever planted in Washington. This was a good leak for a worthy cause. Maybe the governor has forgotten about it, but probably he hasn't.

This was a luncheon leak, not a dinner leak. About 50 correspondents who had shown some interest in the foreign aid programs were invited, but they didn't pick up the check. Governor Stassen did.

After this luncheon, to discuss foreign aid accomplishments and goals for next year, the plans for a new aid for Asia program were officially leaked to the press.

It was authoritatively stated that such a plan was in the making within the Eisenhower administration. It would be launched in mid-April when the President would send to Congress his foreign aid program for the coming fiscal year.

The news got used. Some of the reporters wouldn't buy it because it was such an obvious plant. They didn't want to be used. Also, first checks with congressmen revealed that they were not enthusiastic about any new Marshall Plan for Asia, even if Europe had been saved by the original.

And from Rio De Janeiro, where the economic ministers of the Organization of American States were meeting, came loud wails.

U. S. Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey was there. He was trying to tell the Latin-American countries there would be no gravy train for them. As a substitute, he offered them an International Finance Corporation to make them loans.

The timing of Governor Stassen's leak in Washington on the new aid for Asia program was considered most unfortunate. It made the good neighbors to the south feel that they were being short-changed again, while the noncooperative Asians got everything. Secretary Humphrey in Rio had a tough time keeping the situation under control.

In the backwash of all this there was built up quite a story on an administration feud between Secretary Humphrey and Governor Stassen. Secretary Humphrey was represented as opposing anything but the most nominal, emergency aid for Asia. There just wasn't going to be any new Marshall Plan, it was said.

But in the five months since then, the wheel of time has turned and the moving finger has written on the feud between Humphrey and Stassen seems to have been resolved.

The Charter for Secretary Humphrey's International Finance Corporation has been drafted and is ready for submission to interested countries for their approval.

President Eisenhower has sent his foreign aid message to Congress. As predicted, or leaked, it contains within 5 per cent of what Governor Stassen had recommended in the first place. The total request is for $3.5 billion, of which $2.1 billion is for the great arc of free Asia, from Korea through India to the mid-East and Turkey.

How much of it Congress will buy remains to be seen.

But the whole hassle shows how leaks to the press are used when government officials have tried balloons they want to launch, or a slick bill of goods to put over for what they consider a worthy cause in the national interest. Leaks are supposed to be all right then.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gale Storm and Charles Farrell approached the end of a long, long trail this week — the last of "My Little Margie" on TV.

The lively pair made No. 126 of the TV series and it may be the final one. Although it has lost its sponsor, "My Little Margie" is still popular and could probably snag another one. Then why is it going off?

The answer concerns the economics of the TV film business. Many producers break even or perhaps take a loss on the first run. The loot is gained in re-runs of the shows. And now "My Little Margie" is going after the loot.

That's all right with Gale and Charlie, because they share in the profits. But during the 1st days of production, both seemed a little sad that the long run was about over.

They were making a wacky chapter in which Charlie was dressed in knee-pants and beating the bushes with a butterfly net. This seemed a bit undignified for the former mayor of Palm Springs. But he was short of his dignity about 100 TV films ago.

Watching on the side lines was Gale, who was still dazed after being the subject of "This Is Your Life" last week. She explained the status of Margie:

"The present producer, Roland Reed, says he won't make any more films. He wants to cash in on the re-runs. But there is some question as to whether Hal Roach Jr. will continue making them. At any rate, we'll still be doing Margie on radio."

Lay Foundation Now for Being Gracious Older Lady

It isn't unusual for a woman in her young or middle years to meet a bright-eyed, active, interested and interesting little old lady and think to herself, "That's the kind of old lady I hope I'll be some day."

The first time that thought occurs isn't one bit too soon for a woman to start working on the kind of older woman she wants some day to be. For it is the kind of life she has been living for years that makes an older woman happy-faced or dispirited, interested in the world about her or so absorbed in herself she doesn't see beyond her own nose, kindly toward others or meanly critical.

The wrong attitudes and feelings have to be rooted out while a woman is still young — if she is to grow into an admirable older woman.

TRY THESE QUESTIONS

Here are just a few questions it might be well for any woman to ask herself.

Am I really interested in the welfare and happiness of others and do I feel genuine regret instead of triumph when others make mistakes and have hard luck?

Am I able to be alone without being unhappy?

Am I willing to make the effort to accomplish the things I want to do?

Catholic Scouts Receive Awards Today—Bishop William A. O'Connor of the Springfield diocese will present the coveted Ad Altare Dei Cross to about 130 Catholic Boy Scouts today at St. Joseph's church in Springfield. The church award is a national one governed by the National Catholic committee on Scouting in New York and can be authorized only by the Bishop of a diocese. The applicant must be a first class Scout and meet certain knowledge and service requirements that necessitate at least a year's preparation.

Above are the Jacksonville boys who will receive the award: Top row, left to right: John Clancy, who received the award last year, Tom Shanley, Jerry Bonjean, Robert Reavy, David Curry, and Explorer Jerry Lewis. Bottom row, left to right: Dennis Lewis, Irvin Todd, Mickey Walker, Tommy Murray and Earl Terwische. Mike Templin was not present when picture was taken. John Kaufmann is Scoutmaster of local Troop No. 109 and Delbert Hayes is the Assistant.

More than 300 Scouts from 20 central Illinois communities will participate in the ceremony and will also take part in the midwest pilgrimage to the tomb of Abraham Lincoln.

Vacation Bargain Hunters Will Receive Full Value In Trip Down Mexico Way

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A devaluation of the peso plus a wealth of scenic and historic attractions have combined to make Mexico a popular spot for Americans seeking bargain vacations abroad.

The peso has been cut to 12½ to the dollar, and by trading in $100 the tourist can go a long way south of the border.

The capital of Mexico and its environs are at their best during the summer months. Everything is in bloom, the weather is cool.

Mexico City is no more Mexico than New York is the United States. But it's exotic, it's foreign, it's cosmopolitan, and there are short and inexpensive side trips which give you an insight into all phases of Mexico's life and its fascinating history.

If you come by automobile, as the great majority of tourists do, you can make it from the Texas border to the capital in two easy days driving. You'll find gasoline cheap (17 cents a gallon for top grade) and motels along the way less costly than in the States ($3 or $4 a night a couple).

Mexico City with its 3½ million population is a mile and a half high, sits in a cup of a valley surrounded by mountains, and has a springlike climate throughout the year.

Assume you're in Mexico City. What now? You have obtained a hotel reservation in advance—that's almost mandatory—in a modern, clean room. (Hotels range from 20 pesos—$1.60—for a double to almost anything you want to pay. The lowest double in the swank Del Prado is 50 pesos—$4—but the average is twice that.)

The things you see or do depend entirely on your own inclinations. There are things of historic interest. Mexico City was a metropolis long before the pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock. Or there are sports, golf, horse races, jai-alai, bullfights and night clubs by the dozen.

In the downtown area itself—famous Palace of Fine Arts with its gorgeous murals and the National Palace, where the President has his offices.

The huge cathedral on the Zocalo (the city's main square) is a must. Built on an Aztec temple back in 1525, it expanded through the years until it is now said to be the largest cathedral in North America. It is the headquarters of the Catholic Church in Mexico.

You can drive through Chapultepec Park and its great castle, once the home of Emperor Maximilian and Carlotta. It is now the nation's tourist center.

greatest museum, housing historic treasures.

No trip to Mexico City is complete without a look at the 30-most elaborate educational project of the century, and recently the site of the Pan-American Games.

The huge campus, built atop a lava bed, includes about 80 of the most modern buildings found on a college campus anywhere.

Quick inexpensive sidetrips can be taken to the pyramids, Xoximilco, Cuernavaca and Taxco. The largest is the Pyramid to the Sun, 216 feet high and considered the largest artificial mound in the Americas. There is disagreement as to its age—some say 1,000 years old, others date it before the Christian era or over 2,000 years old, still others contend it's much older than that.

Nearby is the Pyramid to the Moon, much smaller, and the Ciudadela, a huge rectangular court with minor pyramids inside and on its corners.

After touring Cuernavaca, drive on another 50 miles and you're in Taxco, an old mining town whose silver mines gave up millions in wealth. Production has declined sharply now, but the ancient city has regained its place in Mexico's economy by becoming the home of the silvercraft industry, and a Baptist Spring Rally at the Mt.

You've Never Had It So Good And By 1960 It'll Be Better, 25 Researchers Report

NEW YORK (AP)—Easier, richer, longer—that's life in the 1960s. Yours will be a pushbutton world, if you can afford it—and more people will be able to afford it. You'll be healthier, live longer, play more.

Will you be happier?

That's one question left strictly alone. But it's about the only one unanswered in the 1148-page survey being put out this week by the 20th Century Fund.

The project took 25 economic researchers five years. It is titled "America's Needs and Resources: A New Survey."

To come up with long range prospects, J. Frederic Dewhurst and associates measured the entire American economic system in action. They concluded we've never had it so good—and it'll get better, barring atomic war.

This is the second study of this kind brought out by the fund, an endowed philanthropic foundation established in 1919 by Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant. The first, started in 1942 and published in 1947, has been revised, expanded and projected into the future to make the present volume.

We'll be living in style in 1960, says the survey, and this is why: Right now more people own their homes than rent them, and home ownership is expected to increase. They're going to look better too.

Americans will spend more on furniture, decorations and household conveniences than ever before. In fact, equipping and operating the 1960 home will cost more than rent, and will take a larger share of the family dollar than any other item except food.

Heavy drapes, rugs, overstuffed furniture will give way to simpler, streamlined furnishings. Modern trends indicate waxed or tiled floors, and smaller rooms better laid out.

Does this mean 1960's housewife, with her simpler furnishings and labor-saving gadgets, can take it easy all day? No. Higher standards of cleaning, cooking and child care will keep homemaking a full-time job.

Not only are our homes going to be outfitted more attractively, but so are we. It's going to be harder to tell a man's income from the way he dresses in 1960. Improved tailoring techniques and textiles will combine to create higher quality and greater variety for everybody.

Barring revolutionary brainstorms from Dior and his fellow designers, styles will follow the present trends toward simpler clothes with the accent on youth. It's for sure that heavy, close-fitting clothes are on their way out as the Western emphasis on casual, colorful, lightweight wardrobes moves east.

The plastics invasion of the leather field will be spectacular and by 1960 more people will be wearing plastic—and cheaper—shoes.

We'll look better in our clothes, too, because of a pleasant paradox: "We'll spend more on food but we'll grow slimmer."

Nutritionally speaking, we're wising up. That means we'll taper off on potatoes, beans, cereals and nuts, and increase our consumption of healthful, lower-calorie salad greens and citrus fruits.

Gourmet delicacies will become commonplace: Dwarf watermelons cherries in January, midget turkeys. Higher income and the demand for gauging portions to smaller families will challenge technology to come up with breeding and production miracles.

Concentrated foods, prepared by low pressure evaporation with little loss of flavor, might bring about a revolution in the marketing of liquids, such as milk.

With our 40-hour week cut to 37½ and our average family income up about three percent to $6,200 a year, we'll have more time and money to spend in the pursuit of recreation in 1960.

Gardening, now the nation's No. 1 hobby, will be kept going by the exodus to the suburbs. In spite of TV, at least a fifth of the population will continue to read books for pleasure. Do-it-yourself projects, photography, sports, music will more than hold their own.

Since people will be living longer, the growing numbers of healthier and heartier over-65s will find hobbies and friendships in community day centers and clubs.

Travel will probably get the greatest boost. Americans are the most mobile people on earth. In 1953 we traveled half a trillion miles and we'll go right on traveling in 1960, and traveling in style.

As a nation we're moving away from rails and towards automobiles, buses and airplanes. By 1960 there'll be 54 million passenger cars in use and more than 40 million of us will fly every year.

Autos of aluminum may be quite common by then, or plastic, light, low fast models—maybe turbo-jet powered.

Crowding the pigeons in New York City will be more than two million helicopter passengers, with the nation as a whole accommodating more than six million.

It'll be a smaller world in five years, with four million Americans traveling abroad annually, about two-thirds by air.

Just about any way you look at it, 1960 in a peaceful world is going to be exciting, more pleasant. You'll probably be glad you stuck around.

New PTA Officers Installed At Franklin School

The final regular meeting of the year of the Franklin school PTA was held on Thursday evening, April 28, in the school auditorium. Mrs. Dick Minor, president, opened the meeting.

The program for the evening, which was in three parts, was presented before the business meeting. The first part was a brief concert by students playing string instruments, under the direction of Norman Werner, instructor in orchestral instruments for the city schools.

The second part of the program was a Spanish class demonstration, conducted by Mrs. Suzanne Robbins, assistant professor of Modern Languages at MacMurray College, who has been teaching Spanish for a year to Miss Martha Symon's fourth grade class, as part of the experimental program in teaching languages on the elementary level in the city schools. The demonstration consisted of singing, recitation, and conversation in Spanish.

The final part of the program was a concert presented by fifth and sixth grade students who are studying wind and percussion instruments under O. A. Schuette, instructor in elementary instrumental music for the city schools.

Following the program a brief business meeting was held. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Thomas Rogers. The treasurer, Mrs. John Collins, gave the financial report, and recommendations were accepted by the group for the purchase of new equipment for the school.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Jack Hartong, president of the City PTA Council, who installed the newly elected officers. They are as follows: president, Mrs. Minor, who will serve for a second term; vice president, Mrs. George Wingler; secretary, Mrs. Ralph Withee; and treasurer, Mrs. Robert Patterson.

The business meeting was then adjourned, and the group moved to the cafeteria, where refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Donald Crain, room mother for Miss Betty Townsend's third grade class, and Mrs. J. W. Cully, room mother for Miss Marilyn Lacy's fifth grade class.

Forecast Of How You'll Live In 1960 Is Like Pipe Dream

NEW YORK (AP)—The day of test tube mink and voice telephone dialing is about to dawn.

With it will come hundreds of other technological products and advances to make life in 1960 easier, healthier, longer.

In a major economic study to be published this week by the Twentieth Century Fund, the fruits of technology are displayed in tantalizing detail. The book, entitled "America's Needs and Resources: A New Survey," is the product of five years of research by J. Fredrick Dewhurst and associates.

Here's its idea of what the average American family might have in another five years:

Joe has had a tough day at the office, although he's working only 37½ hours a week compared with the 40-hour average in 1955. He's had a 3 per cent salary increase too, with his family income now at $6,200 a year.

He comes home and switches on tinted lights to help his mood. Feeling tired he sits in front of a fluorescent light that generates vitamins in his body.

It's a cold day, but his home is comfortably warmed by a heat pump which sucks in air from the outside, compresses it to warm it and circulates it through the house—no fuel, no flames, no fumes, no fire hazards. If it were summer, he'd just flick a switch and reverse the operation, cooling the house delightfully.

He's late for dinner but it doesn't matter. His wife simply pops a steak into a range that cooks with high-frequency radio waves. In 10 seconds it's done.

To complete the menu she uses fruits and vegetables that have preserved their right-off-the-farm flavor on the pantry shelf. A cathode ray has done the trick, reducing the need for freezing, canning and preserving.

She's feeling particularly elated today because the girls at the bridge club gave her mink coat a real looking over. She didn't tell them it was chemically treated sheepskin that looked, felt and lasted like real fur.

After dinner, they decided to invite friends in for three-dimension color movies. The small, simple attachment that converts both camera and projector was a real bargain, they think.

So Joe voice-dials the Smiths—just speaking the number into the transmitter. Bill answers—and the TV attachment on the telephone catches him putting on his coat.

Paintings By 2 Local Students Win Recognition

Two Jacksonville sixth grade students have won high national recognition for their original paintings on the subject, As I See Myself. They are Susan Weller, daughter of Mrs. Samuel V. Weller, 117 Finley street and Judy Hart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Hart, recently moved to Jacksonville from McLeansboro.

Susan Weller, age 11, painted herself as person presenting a puppet show. Judy Hart, who is ten years of age, saw herself playing an accordion. Both girls are in the sixth grade at the Lafayette school. Mrs. Majel Siegrist is the teacher. Both students used as their media of expression the combination of chalk and buttermilk. This is a delightful new way of creative expression that is used in the field of art today.

The pictures done by Susan and Judy will be among the one hundred outstanding work of childrens art to be exhibited in the Galerie St. Etienne in New York City, opening May 19, described as the National Exhibition of Childrens' Paintings.

The one hundred paintings were selected from more than 15,000 entries from 36 different states. The public schools in school district 117 sent in several entries. The art department, under supervision of Miss Marguerita Schoedsack and Mrs. Joseph Boule, is very proud of the results in the entries.

The exhibit is being sponsored by the Junior Arts and Activities Magazine of Creative Activities for the Classroom. This magazine is under editorship of Dr. F. Louis Hoover, director of Art at Illinois Normal University, Normal, Ill.

They are to be no special awards given to the students for their work with the exception of that each will receive a copy of the June issue of Junior Arts and Activities, as special recognition. This issue will contain full catalogue of the childrens' paintings including a print of each entry.

The exhibit was open to any child in the public or private schools from kindergarten through the eighth grade. Jacksonville, Woodson and Murrayville schools entered some very fine paintings.

Although tin is softer than copper, the addition of a little tin to copper creates bronze which is harder than either metal.

'TAIN'T FUNNY—College students are suspected of being the pranksters who raised the hair of Boulder, Colo., motorists with this stuffed dummy shown with Deputy Sheriff Dale Goetz. Rigged with an ingenious network of wires and pulleys, the figure would appear on the road. When motorists searched for their "victim" he was gone. EXCLUSIVE

Class of 1985!

It would take a long time to determine who won the bet—but we'd be willing to wager that the lad in the picture winds up owning a Cadillac!

We feel so confident because he is starting out like a typical Cadillac owner.

Preponderately, Cadillac owners are self-made men. They just emerge—from everywhere.

But they are usually marked, quite early in life, by industry and thrift and the will to succeed.

That's why we say that this wonderful lad—out earning money to make himself self-sufficient—is very likely to wind up owning a Cadillac. Looking at him, as he labors, we estimate the class of 1985!

We hope we are around to deliver his car when the great day arrives—for it's a great thrill to hand out the keys when an owner comes in for his first Cadillac.

It's worth a lot to see the smile on his face and the gleam in his eye as he settles himself behind the wheel —studies the instrument panel to make sure of the controls—and floats away in the direction of home and a family celebration.

Of course, for the lad in the picture, the thrill of that first Cadillac is still a great many years away.

But how about you? Is the time coming close for your dream of a Cadillac to come to a happy ending? If so, we'd be happy—indeed—to see you.

This is a wonderful year for owning a new Cadillac—whether it's your first or your fifth or your tenth. Never before has Cadillac performance been so marvelous—its beauty so arresting—its comfort and handling ease so delightful. It is more decisively than ever—the Standard of the World!

Why not come in today—and check this for yourself? We'll give you the keys and a car—for the most revealing hour you ever spent in a motor car.

WATER AT LAST—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson seems pleased to see water after spending the past few days in the barren, dust-covered areas of Colorado. Benson is inspecting "deep well" irrigating project on the farm of William Frank Morton, near Dumas, Texas. Irrigation has kept crops alive in the drought-ridden Texas Panhandle, but costs of wells and pumps are high, so farmers are still in trouble.

$300 In Equipment Disappears From Well Drilling Site

JERSEYVILLE — The theft of from $250 to $300 in equipment was reported Thursday afternoon to the office of Sheriff Herman C. Kirchner by Donald Moreland of DeWitt, Iowa, an employee of the Hydromatics Quad City Well Drilling Company of Milan, Ill.

The mentioned drilling organization has been employed in drilling of test wells in the Otter Creek Valley for the City of Jerseyville Water Company and recently completed the drilling of another test hole.

Moreland reported that the theft of the articles had probably occurred over a period of the past three weeks. Farmers in the same vicinity reported that articles of value, parts of farm equipment, etc., have been stolen from their places during the present spring season.

Among the items Moreland listed as taken from the well drilling company were one pair of 5 inch elevators of the value of $50; fifty feet of three quarter inch rope; 100 feet copper air line; one set acetylene gauges; one cutting torch; one 18 inch pipe wrench; one piece six inch water line; one altitude gauge; one 24 inch pipe wrench; one altitude gauge; one grease gun and a number of other items.

Moreland expressed the opinion that the majority of the items taken were stolen with the intention of selling them as junk. He stated that the most valuable items, the five inch elevators, would be of little value to anyone other than parties engaged in the well drilling business and would probably be offered for sale with other junk.

The equipment disappeared in the locality about three and a half miles from the pumping plant at Union Forest Springs where several test wells have been sunk in the program to augment the supply of water for the City of Jerseyville.

MRS. MILLER HOSTESS TO WEST SIDE WOMEN

The West Side Woman's club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Olivia Miller as hostess. The president, Mrs. Margaret Mitchell conducted the meeting for the 11 members present.

Minutes were read by the secretary, Louise Carter. Roll call was answered with a trick. Assurances were paid and following a short business session a social hour was enjoyed.

The hostess served lovely refreshments. The club will meet next on May 13 with Mrs. Gertrude Dugan for the Tribute to Mothers day.

Since 1901 the expectation of life at age 40 has been increased about four years for white men and seven years for white women in the United States.

A LUCKY TREE—Only a fallen tree prevents two men at South Bend, Ind., from being swept over a dam on the rain-swollen St. Joseph River. Curtis Miller clings to a rope which was floated down the river from a rescue boat. Other man, Louis Lanthier, grasps the fallen tree.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY

THE STORY: Jesse and Frank James and Cole Younger are among the first train robbers in history. The event is near Adair, Iowa, on the C. R. I. & P.

XVIII

THE engine was through the out and they could see the ruddy glow of its firebox staining the night. They watched the swing and jerk of the following cars pound rockingly along the narrow-gauge road bed toward the curve.

The two horses jumped under the drive of their masked rider's spurs. The ropes sang tight, stretched, came away, springing the loosened rails outward.

The locomotive, tender, five day coaches and two sleepers left the tracks, lunging wildly along the embankment. The tender-coupling broke free of the lead coach, hurtling the locomotive on down into the river bottom. From the tangled mass of its bursting boiler and broken steamlines, the fireman staggered free, voice screaming in the agony of the oil-soaked overalls burning on his back. The engineer, trapped in the hissing wreckage, was already dead, instantly scalded by the live steam.

Miraculously, the coaches stayed upright. The wheels of the overturned locomotive were still spinning crazily in mid-air when the first of the dazed passengers tried to fight their way clear of the shambles of wooden seats and shattered glass within the cars. Their efforts were met at the broken vestibule doors by five courteous gentlemen in calico masks.

COLE and Jesse had run their mounts alongside the express car, still on the rails and undamaged. Leaping from their saddles through its open doors, they put the express company messenger under pistol point.

"Open that safe!" rasped Jesse. The company man responded with alacrity. Cole produced the wheatsack, swept the gold into it. It was plain from the thin stream of it and from its empty jingle in the bottom of the 100 pound sack that there was far from $100,000 or even any good part of that amount.

"All right!" snarled Jesse angrily. "Where's the rest of it?" "That's all there is of it!" cried the terrified clerk. "That's the whole shipment. There ain't no other safe, you can see that, boys!"

"I ought to kill him!" whimpered Jesse, eying the cowering clerk wildly. The man said nothing. He was a literate man, a man who could read. In the red-rimmed blink of the staring eyes above the knotted bandana, he read death.

"Get out!" said Cole to Jesse. He said it flat and harsh, and he took him by the shoulder, shoving him roughly toward the vestibule door at the car's end. "Keep moving, I'm right behind you."

Twisting his head, he hissed under his breath to the clerk: "Don't you move, and don't you say nothing!"

He was back to watching Jesse, then, waiting for him to wheel about and come for him. But he never did. He only kept moving, head down, mumbling incoherently. At the door he hesitated a moment, but still did not turn. When he had gone through it into the connecting coach ahead, Cole moved after him. At the door he, too, paused, nodding softly to the white-faced messenger.

"You won't never come closer to it, my friend." He added thoughtfully, "You got any kids?"

"Three," stammered the clerk. "A little boy and two girls—" "When they grow up," Cole murmured, "they can tell their kids their grandpap known Cole Younger."

The bandits fell quickly into the organized spirit of relieving the bewildered passengers of their wallets, rings, watches, petty change and personal trinkets. The whole of the scrambled loot went swiftly into the wheatsack. Cole, was the Southern gentleman incarnate, bowing to the younger ladies, insisting that the older keep their seats and, here and there where he detected a Dixie dialect, their valuables as well. The rest of the gang, caught up by his good humor, enjoyed the entire performance.

WITHIN 25 minutes of the crash, the gang was on its way.

"Ding," drawled Cole, owl-sobor about it. "When old Cole promises something, he delivers it. Here—"

He fished the fat gold watch out of his vest, handed it toward Jesse. "Now, don't drop this one. It's a genuine 21-jewel Swiss super. I bartered it off a jewelry drummer from Peoria."

Their harassed way led south into the Indian Territory and looped back up to the west, through eastern Kansas, covering a distance of 600 miles. The Pinkertons, put on the trail by the C. R. I. & P. and the Adams Express Company within hours of the robbery, pushed them every relentless foot of the way. It was only when they succeeded in losing the detectives in the Missouri River bottoms by crossing and recrossing the Big Muddy three times in 24 hours that they were finally able to slip safely into Clay County.

On July 22, just 12 hours after the wrecking and robbery of the Adair train, a second C. R. I. & P. train passed over the identical, repaired section of track outside Adair. Frank and Cole, it would appear, had made a slight miscalculation in train schedules. It was the 8 a. m. they wanted, not the 8 p. m.

Aboard that second train were $75,000 in government mint-gold! (To Be Continued)

What's the best place to save for Cowboys, Indians and Space Cadets?

Of all the reasons for saving money—and there are hundreds—certainly none is bigger or more important than building up a nest-egg to take care of your children's future.

And where's the best place to build up your nest-egg? Right now, 14 million Americans think the best place is an insured Savings and Loan Association! Here's why!

ONE—You get excellent returns. That's because insured Savings and Loan Associations invest most of their funds in sound, steady-paying home mortgages.

TWO—Your savings are safe—protected by good management and substantial reserves. They are insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation—an agency of the U. S. Government.

THREE—These Associations are local organizations. They offer friendly, helpful and convenient service.

And here's another point: When you're thinking of buying a home, remember that insured Savings and Loan Associations make liberal loans. They see to it that you get the money quickly—and at moderate rates.

Why not come in and open savings accounts for yourself and for your children today. And if you need a home mortgage loan, let's talk about that, too!

Russia Leaves Hitler's Burial Place A Pile Of Rubble As Warning Against Aggression

BERLIN — A little wooden fence, painted muddy brown, runs down Wilhelmstrasse in the Soviet sector of Berlin.

It's just high enough to discourage climbers; low enough to be more a symbol than a safeguard.

Behind the fence lies the tomb of Adolf Hitler's Third Reich. Here, a wasteland in the heart of the city, are the ruins of the Reich chancellery and the empty underground bunker where 10 years ago Nazi Germany gasped its last official breath.

The existence of this vacant ground, bigger than Yankee Stadium, is no accident. Real estate comes at a premium in this teaming city. The Russians leveled the Reich chancellery on April 30, 1945, and they leave its rubble as a durable reminder.

No one is allowed to walk across the condemned lot. The roof of the bunker where Hitler and Eva Braun, his mistress of years and bride of two days, are presumed to have perished is ripped off. Bared are the 30 little cells where the Fuehrer's entourage awaited doom.

So long as the Soviets have anything to say about it, the bunker will never be a German shrine. They want it left as a symbolic warning against future aggression. Germans against love anniversaries, but this month there was no pageantry, no harking back to yesterday.

There was no observance of April 20, when Adolf Hitler would have been 66. Nor was there any observance of today, which marked 10 years since the time Red armies stormed into the chancellery and dealt the final blow to the Reich that had boasted of lasting a thousand years but lasted only 12.

The rubble on Wilhelmstrasse is only one reminder to Germans of the former paperhanger who started a war which left 22 million dead and 34 million wounded. Hitler's legacy to his own land included 2,100,000 dead and 7½ million wounded and missing among military personnel alone.

One simply does not find a German today who believes Hitler survived Berlin's collapse in flames. A dozen survivors of the bizarre finish in the bunker maintain now that the Fuehrer was already dying, wracked by drugs, and with his nervous system shattered by the bomb blast of July 20, 1944, an attempt by his own officers to end his life.

His valet, his personal guard, Hitler Jugend troop leader Arthur Axmann all have testified that Eva Braun swallowed cyanide, that Hitler shot himself through the mouth, and that the body burned in a final, barbaric ceremony in the garden was that of the Fuehrer. They contend that propaganda master Paul Joseph Goebbels never would have killed his wife, six children and himself unless Hitler himself were dead.

The Russians have never said one word about what they found at the bunker. They treat Hitler's end as they treat the fall of the czar and his family, buried in nameless, unmarked ignominy.

Nonetheless, 10 years later Communist propaganda finds itself unable to get across its points without using Hitler's name. Worriedly, nervously and stridently the East rips out such imprecations as "Hitler Fascists," "unregenerated Nazi" in assailing the West.

To Russia, the body of Hitler may be dust but the spirit remains.

To the German today, Hitler was a loser, so he is to be forgotten. To the dedicated ex-Nazi party member, the program was good and would have brought only glory if—and he always adds this if—if Hitler hadn't launched his genocidal attack on the Jews.

Those who would say a discreet word for the party have none to say for its creator. The speculation of Hitler having escaped to Argentina, Africa, or some other remote spot existed only amongst the Western Allies for a lack of a corpus delicti.

CARS ARE MY LINE

by: E. W. Brown

It's no wonder car designs through the years have changed back and forth much like women's fashions. The chrome has come on and off, new exterior colors have been tried, the floorboards have been raised and lowered. It's really the women, a lot of people like to say, who buys cars anyway. Everybody has their own theory, but when a family buys a car, I think it's the husband who decides the year, make and model and the wife who picks the color of the car and its upholstery or seat covers.

That's why used car lots, and of course ours especially, offer such a great opportunity for shopping for a car. There's a large selection of models to choose from in all the price ranges. And unlike women's skirts, which may drop or raise six inches in a year (who knows?) last year's car, of even one several years old, can still be a pretty snappy buggy.

With a car these days you won't have the resale trouble you would have had if people had accepted one of the zaniest ideas in the automobile business I've ever heard of. Although the Russians nowadays say they invented everything, this car really was invented by a Russian.

His name was Count Schilowsky and shortly before the First World War he went chugging around Regent's Park in London, England, in a two wheeled gyroscopic car. The gyroscopic kept the two wheeled car on the level and the Count believed the car would save a lot of money because it would be lighter and need a smaller engine for any given speed.

The strangest part of the story is that after his demonstration the car was never heard of again. Twenty-five years later, just before the Second World War, workmen were excavating for a car factory in Birmingham and there, on the site of a modern auto factory, they found, perfectly preserved, the Count's fabulous and abandoned old car.

Because Cars Are Our Line, the old legends of the business have a peculiar fascination for me. If you have a favorite old story about cars, drop in and see us anytime. We like talking shop and there's never, of course, any high pressure to buy.

Hitler Lives Again—On The Screen

Ten years have passed since Adolf Hitler's body was cremated outside the Chancellery in Berlin. The event is being marked in Vienna, Austria, by a new film written by Erich Maria Remarque. Called "The Last Act," the film records the most widely accepted version of the last ten days in the lives of Hitler and his mistress, Eva Braun. Starring are Albin Skoda, as Hitler, and Lotte Tobisch, as Eva Braun. Exact date of Hitler's death is unknown. On May 1, 1945, Hamburg, Germany, radio reported he died "Fighting the Bolsheviks" in Berlin. The next day Moscow reported he committed suicide.

UPPER LEFT — Hitler (Albin Skoda) pounds the map table vehemently as he portrays the German dictator in a typical "rug-crewing" rage in the final phases of the disastrous war—and his life. Scene takes place in a replica of Hitler's underground bunker in Berlin, built outside their Berlin bunker. Actual photos of the real Hitler and Eva are startlingly similar to this scene from the movie.

RIGHT—Film reaches its climax as the blanketed corpses of Hitler and his mistress are prepared for cremation in gasoline. Insert is actual photo showing ditch where they were reportedly buried. An American soldier examines the grave, beside which can be seen empty gasoline cans.

Virginia Considers Municipal Light Plant At Meeting

Theater's Rarest Star, Katharine Cornell, Has Never Played Role For Movies Or TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Katharine Cornell is the theater's rarest star—she has never played a role for either movies or television.

And that is all right with her. Don't think for a moment, though, that she dislikes them. She simply loves the stage more. Just one thing put the Cornell name at the theatrical peak—living theater. And she is its champion forever.

"Neither the need nor the crusade has ended for me," says Katharine, waving off all rumors that she might now be planning retirement.

"Each person is slated for one certain thing, and you must keep plowing at it," she says.

Movies? "I love to see any old movie," says the lady. "I have nothing against them, I just didn't have energy to do both in the years I was coming along. I was a crusader for the theater and that was that."

Television? "I never have felt that I've met the right thing. I'm not sure what effect television will have on the theater—certainly it hasn't kept crowds away on the road."

"If I met something suited to my ability, age and looks, I'd be a fool not to take it."

Miss Cornell faces frankly the facts of mid-50, of having been a star 35 years and being on the eve of her 25th anniversary as a producer-manager of shows in partnership with husband Guthrie McClintic.

"My only interest right now in television is for baseball." Like another famous stage star, Tallulah Bankhead, Miss Cornell is a vociferous fan of the New York Giants. She figures the fixation stems from her girlhood, back around Buffalo, N.Y.

"I was a pitcher," says Katharine, and her face lights up. "I could even wind up. Lord, I don't know if I could today though."

She currently is winding up, to slightly mix the metaphor, an engagement here in the Christopher Fry drama "The Dark is Light Enough." It opens Monday, April 25, in Boston for a two-week engagement.

Her next script has not yet come along, but she would like very much to essay another Fry drama. She had promised herself a year-long vacation before suddenly finding her current play, and her only immediate post-Boston plans are for that postponed rest and "planting myself in the waters and hurricanes" up Martha's Vineyard way in Massachusetts.

Dancing wizard Fred Astaire, one of Broadway's brightest alumni, says he'll never be back to do another stage show.

"I haven't even thought about it," he declared this week while in town briefly in connection with his new film "Daddy Long Legs", the 28th of his cinema career.

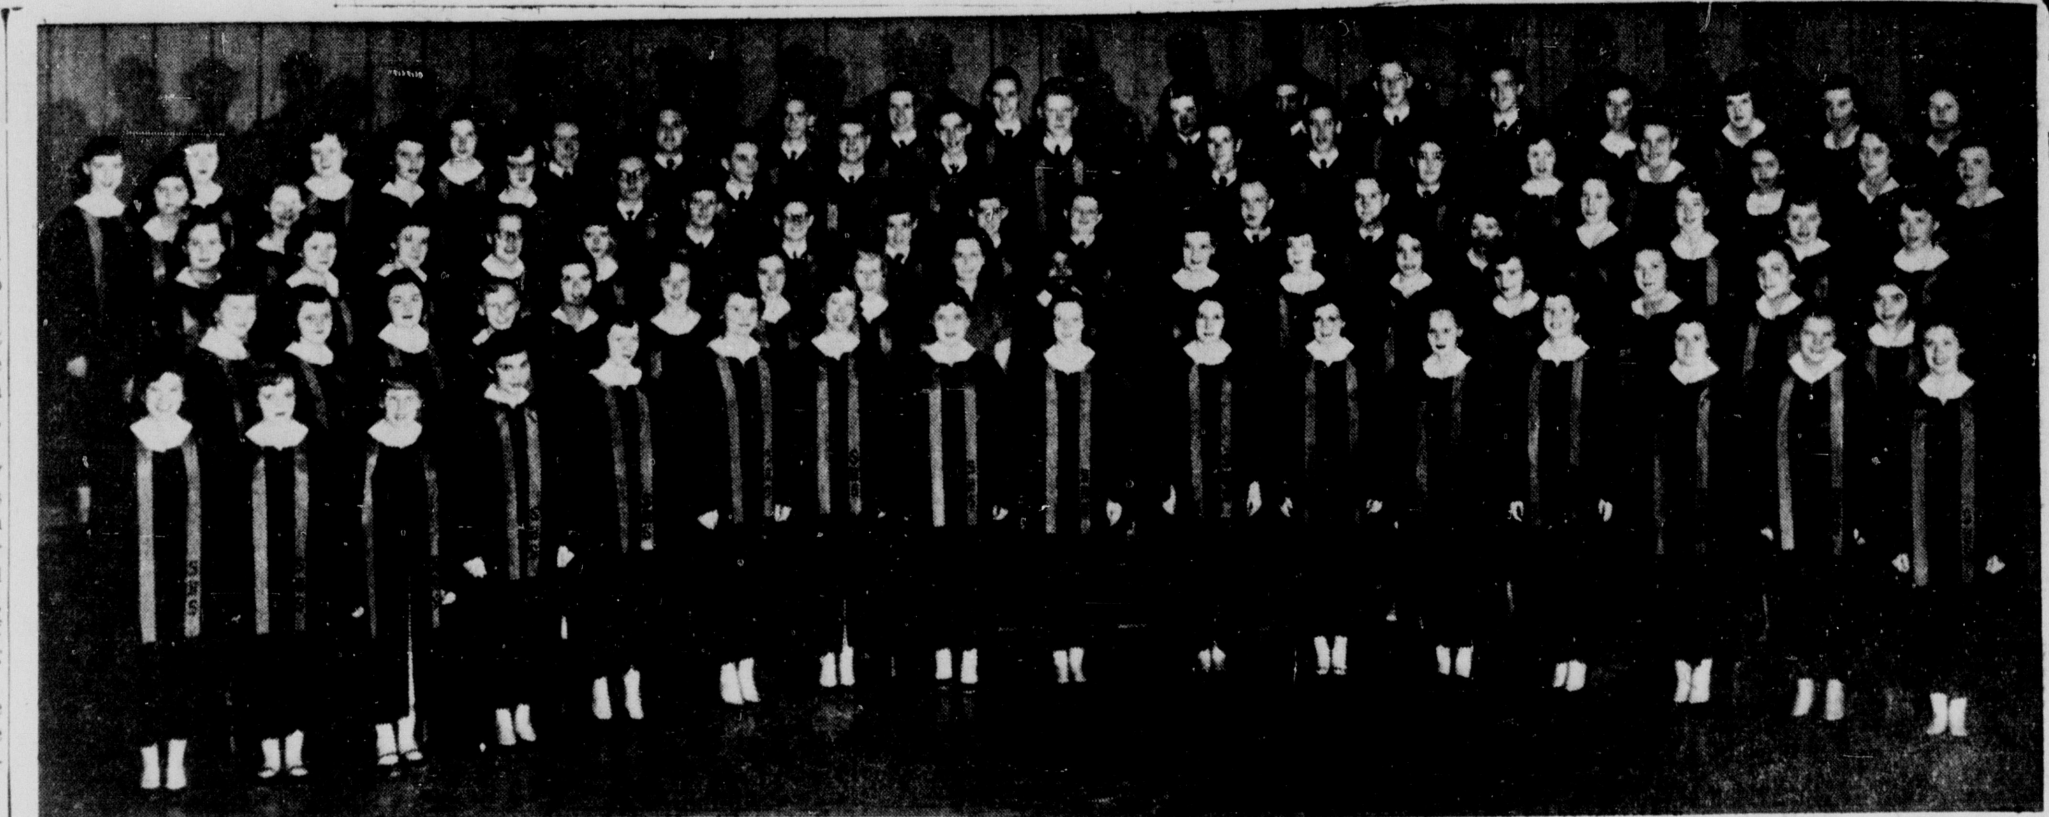

The man who has been a show business great for 40 years, gives the impression of feeling like an elder to whom television and other entertainment forms are still mighty interesting and intriguing, but who will only participate if something especially interesting comes along.

Although he plans no more stage show, Astaire is equally sure he is not going to return to the retirement he tried briefly in 1947.

OLD ENOUGH FOR GUNS

WALLINGFORD, Conn. (AP)—"You don't look 21," Edwin E. Cowen told two youths who ordered a quart of beer at his liquor store. When Cowen asked them for proof of age, one of the youths reached into his pocket for a revolver. The pair fled with $250 in cash from Cowen's wallet and cash register.

The first flight by the Wright brothers was 120 feet which is less than the wing span of a modern airplane.

Springfield Choir Coming To Jacksonville—The Springfield High School Choir of 85 voices will be on the campus of MacMurray College on Tuesday, May 3. This fine singing group, under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Hausen, will render four numbers at the regular 11 a.m. chapel service. The guest speaker will be the Reverend Iven Lee LaTurn o of St. Luke's Methodist Church, St. Louis, Mo. Following the services in Annie Merner Chapel, the choir will be guests of the College for lun ch, and will then be taken on a tour of the MacMurray College campus. From there they will be shown around Illinois College before returning to Springfield. The Jacksonville public is invited to the chapel service on Tuesday.

Estimate Three Years Needed To Prepare Germans To Fight

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Dutch are having the final say on the Paris treaties to rearm West Germany in Western defense. They're for them. All other parliaments involved and the Dutch Lower House have already approved the pact. The three main factors affecting the speed of rearmament are: 1. The Germans have to start from scratch to create modern forces for the atom age. The most serious shortage is lack of qualified young officers and noncoms. 2. A mass of legislation is required to legalize the raising of armed forces. Parliament's determination to have strict control over all phases of rearmament will make this a slow process. 3. The public is so reluctant to rearm that it will be politically impossible to put too much steam behind the drive until all possibility of a settlement with Russia has clearly disappeared. The opposition Socialists are hitting hard the theme that there will still be a chance of getting Moscow's agreement to reunification of Germany so long as Bonn's armed forces, exist only on paper.

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BONN, Germany (AP)—German and Allied military experts calculate it will take at least three years to make West German armed forces ready for combat.

Some German sources think that, for political reason, it may take until 1960.

The three main factors affecting the speed of rearmament are: 1. The Germans have to start from scratch to create modern forces for the atom age. The most serious shortage is lack of qualified young officers and noncoms. 2. A mass of legislation is required to legalize the raising of armed forces. Parliament's determination to have strict control over all phases of rearmament will make this a slow process. 3. The public is so reluctant to rearm that it will be politically impossible to put too much steam behind the drive until all possibility of a settlement with Russia has clearly disappeared. The opposition Socialists are hitting hard the theme that there will still be a chance of getting Moscow's agreement to reunification of Germany so long as Bonn's armed forces, exist only on paper.

The top limit for the West German forces is 500,000 men. They will be divided into 350,000 soldiers in 12 divisions, 85,000 airmen in a 1,300-plane tactical air force and 65,000 sailors in a small navy.

At least nine major laws will be necessary to implement the Paris treaties in Germany.

The first will be a "volunteer law" to establish a 150,000-man cadre for the armed forces. A conscription law will be needed to enable 350,000 men to be called up for 18 months training and then kept on reserve.

A new democratic military code is to replace the strict Prussian style regulation of the past. Powers to requisition land and property and raise funds for military purposes must be granted by parliament.

Parliament must decide the question of who is to be commander in chief, which is sure to stir controversy.

Parliamentary sources doubt this process can be completed much before the end of this year. That means the first recruits would be taken into serve in January 1956.

GET A HORSE!

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Marion Sherman, 65, has almost—but not quite—bypassed the automobile age. Sherman has piled his trade as a horsehoe smith in the Midwest for 48 years.

As to autos, "I wouldn't give you five cents for the best car in the world," he says. "I prefer horses." He owns a car he admits apologetically, but he says it's an old heap and "I haven't washed it for 10 years."

Sherman isn't hard up for business. He says he has more horse-shoe orders than he can handle.

Livestock Men Hear Optimistic 1955 Forecast

CARROLLTON — Approximately 70 farmers attended the livestock and feed outlook meeting held Wednesday evening in the Greene county court house in this city. The speakers were Larry Simerl of the agricultural economics department of the University of Illinois and Eddie Lamb, field man for the St. Louis Producer's Livestock Commission.

Simerl gave an optimistic outlook for the general economic situation for the next six to 12 month period. Lamb reported on the spring survey of farmers marketing intentions for cattle and hogs during April and through September. He also discussed the current market situation and outlook for replacement cattle and feeder lambs and showed colored slides depicting various market grades of cattle and their value on the current market.

As the meeting closed both Simerl and Lamb answered questions which were asked them by the livestock men present.

Eighty Adventurous Years

DR. SHERWOOD EDDY

Still a dynamic Christian leader at the age of 84, Dr. Sherwood Eddy is shown at his desk at his home in Jacksonville. Though only recently he completed his thirty-sixth book, an autobiography entitled "Eighty Adventurous Years," Dr. Eddy has his eyes on the future, planning evangelistic campaigns in Japan, Korea and Hong Kong. He and his wife, the former Louise Gates, will spend three months in the Orient during the close of 1935.

Dr. Eddy's latest book, published by Harper & Brothers, reviews the highlights of a career spanning sixty years of active work in thirty countries. During the course of his almost incessant travels he came to know many men and women of world importance. His book sparkles with reminiscences and opinions of such men as Chiang Kai Shek, Nehru, Tito, Gandhi, and Syngman Rhee.

Reinhold Niebuhr, one of the outstanding leaders of religious thought in America, is the author of the introduction. In it he says: "Sherwood Eddy's career is proof of the tremendous good which a wholly dedicated life can accomplish."

This remarkable career, briefly unfolded in 265 interesting pages, is full of excitement and challenge. It is the story of a Christian with the courage of his convictions, a Christian with the will to devote his life and all he possesses to what he conceives to be God's design. The story commences with Eddy's childhood on the western frontier, traces his college days in New England and then tells how the powerful impact of Dwight L. Moody marked a turning point in his life.

Highlight Chinese People
One of the early pioneers in the Student Volunteer Movement, Dr. Eddy relates his preparation for overseas service, his fifteen years as a missionary in India and his subsequent missionary work in China and Japan. His chapter "Asia in Ferment" and indeed, his whole book, sheds much light on the character of the Chinese people, upon whom world attention is now so critically focused.

Dr. Eddy's autobiography also reflects the broad scope of his work in the Y.M.C.A. organization, his courageous efforts to promote justice on social and economic fronts in this country as well as abroad, and his renowned "American Seminars," annual pilgrimages to Europe to promote better international good will and understanding.

Russia, under the Czars and under the communists, is described at first hand by the author, who says: "I saw the whole Soviet Union sink to the level of a slave state, where all, consciously or unconsciously, are prisoners."

In his closing chapter, "Retrospect and Anticipation," Dr. Eddy describes his present home in Jacksonville. "Here we find," he writes, "a delightful town with two colleges, three libraries, and fine people, many of whom play a good game of bridge."

Although tentacles found in a whale's stomach indicate that octopuses can be 110 feet across with tentacles extended, the largest on record caught by man was 20 feet across and weighed 110 pounds.

A grown mountain lion weighs about 180 pounds.

Greene County Lets Contract For New Bridge

CARROLLTON — Awards were made Thursday in the office of Paul Fentley, county superintendent of highways, to low bidder on a letting held last week in the court house for the construction of a bridge across Whitaker creek in Wrights township. The funds to be furnished through the township motor fuel tax and bridge aid.

The low bidder on structural steel hardware and reinforcing bars was the Allied Structural Steel Company of Chicago. The ready mix concrete was let to the White Hall Concrete Products Company of White Hall and the crosscutting of the timbers contract was let to the Long Bell Lumber Companies of Chicago.

Literberry Club Luncheon Will Be May 17th

The Literberry Woman's club was entertained Thursday in the Pilgrim room at Hamiltons by the president, Mrs. Coy Stice. Thirteen members answered roll call by naming a spring flower.

The May luncheon will be served at one o'clock Tuesday, May 17, at the Southern Air cafe in Jacksonville. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Earl Myers by May 14.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Young Artists Score Success At Benefit

By JOSEPH C. CLELAND

Those who attended the concert by Mary Helen Potter, soprano and Keith Frame, tenor Thursday evening must have been fully repaid. The program presented by the Business and Professional Women's Club for the benefit of Our Saviour's Hospital Fund was graciously given by two young artists who will certainly become very well known. Everything the singers did was a reflection of good taste and unusual insight for two singers so young. The concert was held in the Annie Merner Chapel of MacMurray College.

Mary Helen Potter has been a favorite singer in the Jacksonville area for some time and it was with lots of interest that her friends attend the concert. Although Miss Potter was struggling with a nasty cold she did not let her audience down for a minute. She proved that she is of the stuff of which real performers are made. The voice of a naturally beautiful timbre, lyrical and yet spacious. With her unaffected charm one can suggest that here is a young lady who should have a most interesting future.

Mr. Frame possesses a clear and warm voice, well schooled and readily communicative. He is a good stylist particularly in the operatic numbers. The voice made a fine matching instrument for the soprano tones and altogether the contribution made by Mr. Frame to the success of the evening was most significant.

In the first group of operatic duets the last of the three, "Lontano, Lontano from Mefistofele by Boito was most effective—the voices blending beautifully. Three songs by Hugo Wolf were done charmingly by Miss Potter. Mr. Frame then sang two arias from Tosca with good operatic phrasing and excellent vibrancy of tone. One of the nicest things on the program was the scene from "L'Enfant Prodigue" by Debussy. This included an aria for each of the singers and ended with a striking duet. Mr. Neal Kavan, the accompanist, did a fine piece of accompanying in this number. This is beautiful music and it was well sung and altogether moving.

ROODHOUSE

ROODHOUSE — Mr. and Mrs. Ward Logan and her mother, Mrs. Josiah Hopkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Winder were among those who attended the open house for Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ohmart, Waverly, former residents who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday. It is reported that 106 guests registered during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rice and family, Chicago, visited his sister, Mrs. Glynn Prather, and others here Sunday.

Mrs. William Armstrong and children, Union City, Tenn., are visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. Paul Ballard.

Dick Ballard, son of Mrs. Paul Ballard, attended Little Brother week at the University of Illinois, Urbana, recently, during the weekend. He was the guest of Bill Shade, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Shade, who is a sophomore there.

Sunday guests in the home of Mrs. C. A. Hannaford were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hutchens, Panama Canal Zone; Mrs. O. M. Hannaford, Slater, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Smothers, Taylorville; Mr. and Mrs. Ward King and daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Delores Wells and Helen Marie, Alton; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hannaford, and son, Godfrey; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Denny and children, White Hall, William Simpson, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wagner and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Hannaford, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hannaford and children, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hannaford and children, Roodhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Shade and Mrs. V. J. Allen expect to be present at the University of Illinois, Urbana, for Mothers' Day weekend April 29, 30, and May 1, to be with their children, Bill Shade and Sarah Allen, who are students there.

After the intermission the young artists sang the lovely duet from "Madam Butterfly" by Puccini with warmth and brilliancy of tone. This again was music suited to the voices of the performers. Both young people did a solo group of three songs each as the next item on the program and of these the Hageman song "Music I Heard with You" sung by Mr. Frame made a very good impression. The lovely song "It is a spring night" by Giannini as well as the nicely sentimental "Homing" by Del Riego had lots of warmth and life as they were sung by Miss Potter.

The concert was concluded with the lively and musical singing of three well known popular operetta selections which really took hold of the eager audience. The charm of the young visitors held right through several added encores and the evening did not seem at all long for the listeners.

Neal Kavan did a good job of playing for the singers all through the evening.

Therapists Tell Of Work Done In Public Schools

The recent graduates of A.A.U.W. met Wednesday April 27th, in the home of Mrs. Jack Wise. A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Lee Sullivan, Jr., chairman of the group. A report was made on the competition of the Radio Book Quiz. There was a discussion of service projects for next year, and the chairman appointed Mrs. Jerome Cohen, Mrs. Bill Gross, and Mrs. Erwin Fosterling as a committee to investigate several suggestions and report to the group at the final meeting. This meeting will be held Monday, May 23rd, in the home of Nancy Pierce and Mary Lee Ford, 837 W. State street. Mrs. Sherwood Eddy will speak.

At the close of the business meeting Mrs. Sullivan introduced Miss Joyce Siroky and Bob Blazier who gave the program. Miss Siroky, physical therapist, gave an interesting talk on the work being done in the physical therapy room at Lincoln School. She illustrated her talk with slides showing the type of equipment used in therapy work. Mr. Blazier, physical education teacher for 5th and 6th grade boys, explained to the group his special project in play therapy which gives children who have adjustment problems an opportunity to play in a room equipped with all sorts of toys—Here, by using puppets to present plays, they are given a means of verbalizing their problems so that the counselor can help them work out their difficulties.

Following the program refreshments of punch and cookies were served by the hostess, Mrs. Wise, and her committee Mrs. Giles Farmer, Mrs. Bob Schirmer, and Mrs. Travis Budlong.

Members attending the meeting were: Elizabeth Caldwell, Margaret Kaufman, Mary Lee Ford, Jean Kloppe, Betty Doolin, Elizabeth Ahlquist, Joyce Siroky, Nancy Pierce, Rosemary Farmer, Evelyn Doolin, Clarice Cutis, Pauline Cohen, Carol Walton, Barbara Price, Barbara Miller, Carolyn Gross, Mary Sweden, Ruth Holmes, Miriam Anderson, Lora Budlong, Rhoda Schirmer, Pat Hinds, Velma Wise, and Barbara Sullivan.

daughter, Nelda Louise, who will be a guest at the Hall home for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. James Nims will spend Wednesday in St. Louis where they will attend a jeweler's convention.

Mrs. Fred Herring and daughter of White Hall was a Carrollton visitor Monday.

EBENEZER 4-H AT N. JACKSONVILLE

The Ebenezer 4-H club held its second meeting of the club season on April 12 at the North Jacksonville school. The president called the meeting to order and the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. Roll call was answered by telling what each had made for Easter.

There were several talks and demonstrations. "How to Choose Your Pattern and Fabric," Connie Houston; "A Well Designed Dress," Evelyn Henderson; demonstration on equipment for making pastry, Anita Fairfield. Karen Watkins entertained the group with a toe dance to close the program.

Refreshments were served by Beverly and Barbara Sandidge, Sherrie and Connie Houston.

Cradle In Wall Is Main Point Of Interest In Havana Orphanage

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Late at night a woman, cradling a baby in her arms, slips quietly down narrow Padre Varela Street toward Havana's huge orphan asylum and maternity home.

She stops near a little grey door built into the orphanage's towering wall. Opening the door she places the baby in a cradle. Immediately a bell begins to ring and the mother hurries away.

Inside the orphanage a nun runs to the "tornio" or turning cradle. The sister spins it around and tenderly takes up the baby. The new arrival joins more than 1,000 children to whom the orphanage is home.

Officials of the institution would rather publicize the efficient and loving care the children receive, and the orphanage's modern facilities. But the cradle in the wall always has been a main point of interest.

Few children, these days, actually come to the orphanage through the tornio. Not many years ago, however, about 150 babies were abandoned by this method each year.

The orphanage director, Dr. Julio C. Portela, says officials hope to abolish use of the cradle.

"We encourage mothers who feel they must abandon their children to bring them personally to the door," he says. "If they wish to remain anonymous no questions are asked. But we hope to learn the child's name and background for his future happiness."

He adds, however, the orphanage hesitates to remove the turning cradle.

"If a mother wants to abandon her baby and is afraid to bring it to us in person," he says, "she may leave it to die in the street."

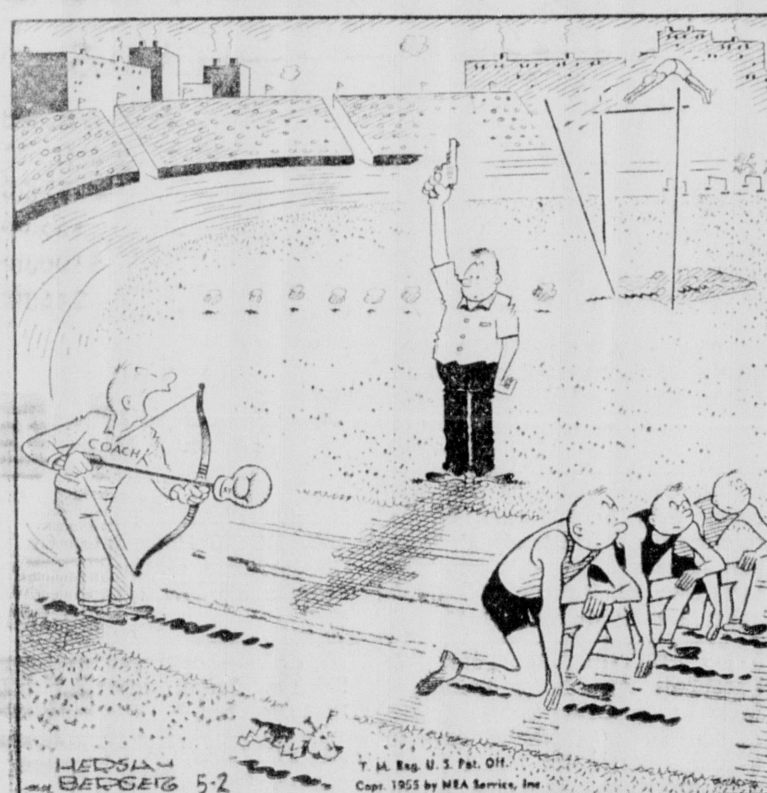

The majority of the institution's children entered the building in more prosaic ways. Many of the inmates, who range in age up to 20 years, were admitted because economic or other conditions prevented them from having a healthy homelife. A large number of these are later returned to their homes. During their stay they are educated and prepared for employment.

There always is a long waiting list for adoptions from both Cuban and foreign couples.

A staff of 35 nuns of the order of Sisters of Charity, 50 men teachers and about 100 nurses supervises the children's care and schooling.

The orphanage is supported by a government subsidy, donations and rents on property willed to the institution.
